THE NATIONAL FEDERATION.

usual weekly meeting of the Limerick of the National Federation was held last g in the Town Hall, Mr P. E. Bourke, Sheriff, presiding. The attendance was Chairman, in opening the proceedings, said could resume the business for which the Federation was founded, and it behoved all, during the approaching months of , to put their shoulders to the wheel in- ally and collectively, and see that nothing ft undone on their part to push forward use which was advocated by the majority Parliamentary representatives of Ireland. their duty to do everything in their power ry on the cause which they had been ig for a great number of years in the man- ight to them by the great leader who on unday was laid in his grave in Glasnevin ury, to the regret and sorrow of the whole land. The speaker then referred to the ft the evicted tenants, which called for their st consideration and support, and alluded to uccessful convention of the Federation which een held during the last fortnight. The lid demonstration at Carrick-on-Suir ded him of the time when there was no sion amongst Irishmen. There was no f betrayal, the speaker observed, in the es delivered at Newcastle-on-Tyne by the al leaders, and as to the line taken by the s of the factionists, he described it as able. It was deplorable to find Irishmen so d by personal motives as to utterly sink use of their country in indulging in their ur against individuals at the expense of ause.

John Creagh proposed "That it is the ear- opinion of this meeting that the late action e leaders of the factionists in throwing off y all consideration for the good of our coun- d recklessly doing their worst to perpetuate on in the national ranks, amounts to treason cause of Ireland, and we are confident that nest and commonsense opinion of our country enetrate through the false and wicked cries being raised over the grave of Mr Parnell, will make short work of the pretensions e men who are endeavouring to at that unity which alone can bring ain victory the hopes and aspirations for Irishmen have so long struggled." The er characterised the references made to the ationists in the late Parnellite manifesto as y laughable and contemptuous.

Joyce seconded the resolution, and after routine business was gone through the edings terminated.
