A LANCASHIRE ROMANCE.

DURING A WIFE IN A FORTRESS.
 Sunday, as a lady named Jackson was leave church at Clitheroe, Lancashire, after g service, she was forcibly seized by her id, assisted by two other gentlemen, placed rriage in waiting, driven off to Blackburn, rried into her husband's house, where she is. Mr Jackson has had the house strongly ided and provisioned to stand a long siege, clares from the windows that right as well ht is on his side, as his wife refused to th him, and he has got a decree of a court ice ordering her to do so. The greatest nent prevails in the locality. Both hus-nd wife are persons of good position in
 , and the lady had a large fortune.
