IRON'S PIER.
 Mr O'Brien, relieving-ington's Pier on yesterday, considerable quantity of rubble matter deposited at station, at the request of Mr Ryan, and made a report, but stated that the pier was more than to health, because the pier would probably collapse. Something about compelling this, to his mind, he did steps they could take. Mr Wighton, had stated, when given to the matter, that if the names of the parties who depositing this refuse there, might be against them. Dr at the stuff should be put up cautioning parties to be hush there.

The Board should see to the health of the inhabitants, but anger to life, or the possibility of collapsing, he thought the jurisdiction over that corporation have not sir; it is a rough boundary.

To serve notice on Mr Ryan, in reference to the matter was read from Mr Going permission to plant some others had been cut down of labourers' cottages. The the required permission. The transaction was unanimous.

warm during the forenoon, changed for the worse as the hour of play arrived, becoming quite dark and threatening, and a brisk breeze blew from the railway goal. The attendance was something enormous, and the ground could not be in better order. There was no change on the teams since Thursday, when it was known that Lyttle had Stevenson's place on the Irish team, while Morrison, Wilson, and Percival, replaced Christopherson, Budworth and Strange. At 3 o'clock Alderson kicked off for England to Dunlop, who stopped, but Walkington relieved him, and kicked to half way. Tuke and McDonnell then rushed to the English twenty-five, and Roche dribbled to goal. Mitchell cleared with a fine kick to Walkington, who punted to centre touch. Penalties free followed, finishing on the Irish 25; but then Tuke kicked to half way, Alderson, Lake, and Bromet passed to Irish goal. Forrest and Roche, charging Morrison, rushed to the English 25, Roche, Forrest, and McDonnell getting up to the line with a long run from Tuke. Free kicks by Forrest and Tuke brought play to the English goal, and Roche collared the full back, McDonnell missing a free. Woods snapped from him, and running passed to Jowett, who passed to Lockwood, who gained a try which Alderson missed. Forrest dropped out to Berry, and for a time Ireland was pressed, but Forrest and McDonnell missed the siege, then a long kick came between Montgomery and Walkington, who hesitated, and Jowett picked up between them passed to Wilson, who gained an easy try. Jowett taking the kick but failed. Score at half time—England, two tries; Ireland one minor. Lytle kicked off for the second half to Woods, when Wilson gained another try which Woods missed. Tuke dropped out, and Ireland touched down from the return, but after his second effort Forrest and Roche got to the English goal, but a long kick, by Mitchell sent back, and during an inquiry for dead ball Lockwood ran in very softly, and kicked a goal himself. Immediately afterwards Walkington missing put Tethill on side for the first of tries, which Lockwood converted into a goal. After this Lockwood took a penalty free, and all but kicked a goal. Result—England, 2 goals and 3 tries; Ireland, nil.
