The remains have been removed to Parsonstown. The interment takes place to-morrow.

A cyclone which passed through the States of Georgia and Florida on Monday night caused the deaths of at least 10 persons and a destruction of property to the value of millions sterling. Throughout the night and up to yesterday forenoon a hurricane raged at New York. Later news from Savannah says the wreck caused by the cyclone is indescribable. Nine vessels detained at the quarantine station are ashore, and will become total wrecks. Passengers from Tybee Island report 14 persons drowned there.

The Registrar-General in his weekly return states that the number of deaths in Dublin last week was at the rate of 21.5 per 1,000 of the population per annum, while the rate in London was 20.3, in Glasgow 20.3, and in Edinburgh 18.8. In Belfast the rate was 25.5, and the registrar of No. 9 District in that city reported that the epidemic of diarrhoea and English cholera there appeared to be subsiding. The births in Dublin numbered 804, and the deaths 146, this latter number being ten less than the average of the corresponding weeks of the last ten years. These included 38 from zymotic diseases, being equal to the number in the preceding week, and 12 in excess of the ten years' average. Of these 38 deaths, 23 were from diarrhoea, chiefly deaths of children, and 4 were cases of simple cholera.

In the House of Commons last night, Mr. Morley, replying to Mr. Clancy, said he would shortly give further personal consideration to the question of the erection of labourers' cottages in Ireland, in the hope of being able to take steps to diminish the delay and expense, without the necessity of further legislation. Mr. Aquith adhered to the reply he had formerly given, that Dr. Gallagher, was sane, and that the time had not yet come for interfering with the sentences passed on him and others. A Bill, brought in by Mr. Clancy, to amend the law relating to the writ of Habeas Corpus in Ireland was read a first time. In Committee of Supply on the Naval Estimates the votes for men and works were, after a long debate, agreed to. In the course of this debate, it was announced on the part of the Government that the wages of the unskilled dockyard labourers would be raised to 19s per week, and of skilled workmen to 32s, and that the classification of skilled workmen which was introduced by the late Government would be abolished.

The usual weekly meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians was held to-day. Mr. Thomas Mitchell presided. The other guardians present were—Lord Clarina, Dr. O'Shaughnessy, Messrs J. P. M. Namara, Thomas Hayes, and Denis F. M. Namara. After the reading of the minutes, Mr. J. P. M. Namara said he had a resolution to propose, which he regretted was a very sad one. He had the melancholy duty to ask that the board adjourn as a sad compliment to their resident medical officer, Dr. Nolan. Anyone acquainted with his late wife must regret that she had been taken away at such an early period of her life. She was both an amiable and an humble lady, as everyone acquainted with her knew thoroughly well. Dr. Nolan was a member of a family which was long connected with the county and city, and everyone who knew his late father felt sad that this lady was taken away so suddenly.

The following resolution, proposed by Mr. J. P. M. Namara and seconded by Dr. O'Shaughnessy, was adopted:—"In consequence of the death of the wife of our respected Medical Officer (Dr. Nolan) that this board adjourn till this day week, and that we tender our sympathy to her relatives on their sad bereavement."

The Chairman was sorry to have to put that resolution to the board, but he knew it would be a matter of consolation to Dr. Nolan that he had the sympathy of the board in his very sad bereavement.

The board then adjourned. Great sympathy is also felt for Dr. Nolan by the officers of the workhouse, from whom we have received the following:—"Limerick Union, August 28th, 1893.—To Dr. J. P. M. Namara, R.M.O.—Sir—We, the officers of the house, tender to you our heartfelt sorrow at the sudden and premature demise of your dear and beloved wife. Signed on behalf of the officers, James Mahon, Patrick Gohery, John Hill, &c., &c."

sure those opposed to him at last night's meeting, would be the last to offend the sensitiveness of Mr. Allan.

THE MURDER IN COUNTY LIMERICK.

ALLEGED ATTACK ON A WITNESS.

EIGHT ARRESTS.

No further light beyond the facts published by us in our edition of Monday last, has been thrown on the murder of young O'Connell, at Doon, on Sunday last. Everywhere in the district the people have been aroused to the deepest indignation, and it is feared that the murder will only renew again the old feuds of the "Three and Four-year-old" factions, that were a disgrace to our county in the past. The match on Sunday last was witnessed by over two thousand persons, and it was marked by squabbles from the first, which terminated in the general melee in which O'Connell received his fatal stab. During the game it is said that a player on the Doon team named Anderson had his head cut accidentally. Some of the spectators, friends of his, then rushed in and attacked some of the Cluravalla players. This row was quieted, but again the factions came to blows, and knives and sticks were freely used. One voice shouted for Anderson and the "four year olds," and in a few minutes after the deceased was seen to run across the field, away from the scene of disturbance blood gushing from him. He uttered but one exclamation, "Oh, he put his hand to his heart, and fell lifeless to the ground. While running across the field a savage also struck him on the head with a stick. Knives were freely used, and several others were slightly wounded—in fact, nearly all the prisoners bear traces of cuts. The cry that O'Connell was dead created terrible excitement, and the people fled panic-stricken from the field. The remains of the deceased were interred yesterday at Lowerhill, and never before was there witnessed in the district so imposing a demonstration of mournful regret. Every person for miles around seemed to have made it a point to attend the funeral.

On Monday General O'Connell, Hospital, held an inquest on the remains of O'Connell, at Castle-garde, the residence of his father. A respectable jury, of which Mr. John Hayes was foreman, having been sworn.

Head-Constable Soden, Newpallas, who was assisted by Sergeants Conway, Doon, and M'Keon, Oola, examined two men named Matthew Kennedy and Patrick O'Connell, who gave evidence as to the character and nature of the fight and the football match. Dr. Joseph Fitzgerald, M.D., Cappawhite, was also examined, and deposed that he attended the deceased on the field, and life was extinct. When he saw him subsequently, he made a post mortem examination of the body, and found a puncture wound in the heart. It was his opinion that death was due to internal hemorrhage caused by that wound.

The jury returned the following verdict:—"We find that death was due to internal hemorrhage from a puncture wound in the heart, inflicted maliciously by some person unknown, at Cooga, in a football match on 27th August, 1893."

THE PRISONERS BEFORE THE MAGISTRATES.

Yesterday, at Newpallas Petty Sessions, before Colonel Tynte, R.M., eight young men of the farming class were brought up in custody charged with being concerned in the murder of John O'Connell, at Cooga, on 27th August, 1893. The prisoners answered their names as follows: William Tobin, Oola; Denis Anderson, do; John Moloney, do; Thomas Ryan, do; William Anderson, do; Edmund Russell, Doon; Patrick Hayes, Cooga, and Robert Woods, Doon.

Head-Constable Soden, Newpallas, represented the Crown, and Mr. Edmond Barry, solicitor, appeared for the prisoners.

When the charge was read over, The Head-Constable applied for a remand, on the ground that he wished to procure further evidence of an important nature.

Mr. Barry said the prisoners were quite ready to meet the charges against them, and they repudiated any idea whatever of it. They were arrested performing their daily work, and he would be able to prove in the shortest time that the men were absolutely innocent.

Colonel Tynte said as the Crown had applied for an adjournment, he was powerless to do anything but accede to the application.

Mr. Barry then asked to have the prisoners admitted to bail.

Colonel Tynte said he was equally powerless in that matter, and remanded the prisoners for a period not to exceed eight days.

The prisoners were then removed from Court in the custody of a strong escort, and conveyed to Limerick jail in the evening.

Matthew Kennedy, of Doon, father of one of the parties suspected of being concerned in the general row when young O'Connell met his doom at the recent football match at Cooga, was met, it is stated by a party of men when returning from Newpallas Petty Sessions on yesterday, and got such a severe beating that it is thought he has died from the effects.

A friend of young O'Connell's named Ryan (lab) has been arrested on suspicion.
