THE SEASON AT ALLA BE.

(NEON A CORRESTONDEST).

The Kilkee season is now in full swing, exquisite weather and many amusements serving to make time pass away merrily. Last Friday another charming little dance took place, and this week every evening was more or less lively. An accordance of the control of might talk much better than in front places in a concert room, where they only amony their neighbours by their conversation. On Saturday, being a holiday, waxworks are to be the order of the evening, and with auch a Mrs Jarley, as we are to have, they must be a success, and then next week many other amusements are to take place, so that no one can be dull in these days at Kilkee.
