(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Kilrush, Monda

The impressive coremony of laying foundation stone of a new R C Church at 1 more, about three miles from Kilrush, took I on yesterday, Penticost Sunday, in St Ser Parochial Church in the presence o very large congregation, the edifice k crowded to its utmost capacity. chapel is to be most appropriately na Little St Senan's, and the erection of a ch in this most remote district has become of a both by the clergy and the people, for to us words of the venerated Bishop of the Dic Most Rev. Dr MacRedmond—"There is no of the Diocese of Killaloe which more calls church than Monmore." The people of this triet of Monmore (the Vast B)g) are utterly and unable of themselves to build it.

Very Rev Dr Sylvester Malone, P.P. MRIA, energetically took up the work, aided by the services of a mittee of influential townsmen, who, their own personal knowledge of circumstances of the poor people of Mont have appealed now to the charity of the inb ants of Kilrush for help to carry the pr to a successful termination. Nor was the a in vain as was testified by the amount subsc at the collection made at each of the N yesterday, proving again the tradit generosity of the people of Kılıush in res to the eloquent sermon preached on the occ by Very Rev Denis Kelly, D D, President Diocesan College, Ennis. Pontifical High commenced at 11 o'clock in the Church. Lord Bishop of the Diocese, Most Re MacRedmond presided at the throne, the John Scanlan, CC, officiated as celebrant Daniel Courtney, C C, as deacon; the R Sweeney, CC, as sub-deacon; and Very Denis Kelly, DD, as master of ceremonies. music of the Mass was beautifully render the powerful choir under the able manage of Miss Charlotte Scanlan, the accomplorganist. At the conclusion of the 1st G Very Rev Dr Kelly, ascended the pulpi commencing his sermon, took for his taxt-John, indeed, baptised with water, but you be baptised by the Holy Ghost; 1st chapter of the Apostles, and 5th verse."
