It is assumed that Mr Joseph Cassus, son of Alderman Gasney, is a candidate for the representation of the Glentworth Ward, in room of Mr M & Hennessy, C E, resigned. We have no toubt that such a highly popular young gentle-man as Mr Gasney will be very heartily sup-ported by the residents of the ward.

exert themselves in the formation of a club such as exists in so many other villages no larger than Castleconnell. There is surely no lack of wheelmen in the villages and its neighbourhood. There are enough to form a very efficient club, and considering that some of the local cyclists have distinguished themselves at Limerick and elsewhere it is safe to prophesy that such a club once fairly started would soon gain a wide reputation.

Fibrains at Castleconnell.—The river is now very high owing to the heavy rainfall, and but for this, sport would have been better during the week. FISHING AT CASTLECONNELL.—The river is now of his A very rare musical treat is in store for the public on Tuesday evening next, when a dis-tinguished concert party, including Master Cyril tinguished concert party, including the Appear at the Theatre Boyal. We shall also have an opportunity of hearing a young baritone. Mr Harrison Brockbank, whose abilities are highly before the tha Lundon dailies as well as the Harrison Breekbank, whose abilities are highly spoken of by the London dailles as well as the musical press. The Daily Chronicle, for instance, has the following comment:—"At the Imperial Institute the Prince of Wakes presided at the fortnightly Concert, given in the groat hall; and in consequence attracted the largest audience of the season. Mr Harrison Brockbank, although encores were forbidden, had twice over, at the instigation of the Prince of Wales, to respond to the appliance which greated his finished efforts." Another great feature will be the appearance of Miss Metric Carpenter, a violinist of the highest talent. As to Misster Tyler, those who have not heard his marvellous voice should not miss the coming opportunity, and we may say that ı the ssary Bill neara as marvellous voice should not miss the coming opportunity, and we may say that generally speaking the programme is of a very classical and diversified character, many of our most famous composers being represented. We trust that such an important engagement as this will have the fullest support of all lovers of the "Divine Art."

Macdonna's Celebrated Comedy Company will appear at the above on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday next with these two of the greatestand most recent London successes. Nobe, which has completed its 550th night at the Strand Theatre, London, is one of the very best farcical comedies the stage has seep in recent years. The plot, which somewhat reminds us of Paymation and Galatea, though incomparably more humorous, is a bold idea, and wonderfully carried out. The dialogue sparkles at every point, and from the time of the uncalled-for coming by life of the statut till the final fall of the curtain, laughter follows every movement. Jane is one of those uproariously funny pieces that makes everyone who sees it feel ten years younger for the nonce. Witty and pretty, the servant—who is for once made mistress—gats her master out of difficulties in such a mirth-provoking manner that when the curtain falls one feels that another act it such laughter would be unbearable. Messrs Erskine and Macdonns are bringing an exceptionally good company, who have appeared in all the principal cities and towns of Great Britain, including Dublim, Belfast, and Cork, and we would advise those who wish to enjoy a thoroughly good evening's entertainment not to miss seeing Nobe and Jane. DEATH OF LORD EMLY.

We deeply regret to announce this evening the death of the Right Hon Lord Emly, Lord Lieutenant and Custos Rotalorum of the County Limerick, which took place at Tervoe about sleven o'clock last night. The public were not unprepared for the sad event, having regard to imprepared for the sad event, having regard to the grave reports which had gone out during the week regarding his Lordship's condition. In fact no hopes were entertained of the venerable patient's recovery, and his demise was looked on as merely a matter of time. The Most Rev Dr. as merely a matter of time. The Most Rav Dr O'Dwyer paid frequent visits to Tervoe since Lord Emly's state assumed a very grave turn, and gas present last night when the final parting took place. All the deceased nobleman's family were, we believe, present at his bedside. The Right Hon. William Monsell, Baron Emly (United Kingdom, 1873), was only son of the late William Monsell Fee of Terrors who married in

At a meating of the Raral Sanitary Board to-At a meeting of the Rural Sanitary Board to day, Mr John M'Inerney, referring to the death of Lord Emly, who was a momber of that board, and it was usual usides such circumstances to adjourn the business. Although he and Lord Emly had often to fight their corners at that board, that was no reason why he should not stand up and propose the, adjournment of the meeting. He, therefore, proposed that they now adjourn as a bribute of respect to the memory of the late Lord Emly.

Mr William Fitzgerald begged to second the proposition, and the board adjourned accordingly.

At the meeting of the Glin School Board to-day, Mr D # M/Namars said as the most pressure. of Lord Emly, who was a member of that board (Unived Aingdom, 1873), was only son of the late William Monseil, Eso, of Tervoe, who married in 1811 Olivia, eldest daughter of Sir Hunt Walsh, Bart, of Ballykillearan, and died in 1822. Lerd Emly, born 1812, married in 1838 Lady Anua Maria, daughter of the second Barl of Dunraven, who in 1841 gave birth to a son and heir, but he died in 1845. Her ladyship died in 1857. M. alluded in sympathietic terms to the death of Lord Emly, Lioutenant of the County, and as a mark of respect to his memory he would adjourn the court after the custody cases were disposed of. He was sure that the people generally showed the regret which he hunself ield at the death of such a distinguished member of the community.

DEATH OF MRS PHELPS, WILLOW BANK.

A pang of grief will be experienced amongst host of friends at the unexpected demise of Mrs Mary Phelps, widow of the late Mr J J Phelps, which took place this morning at Willow Bank, after a brief illness. It was only quite recently that Mrs Phelps was in the city, and appeared in her usual good health. The deceased lady was held in the highest esteem in the locality which her presence so long graced, and her charity and consideration for the poor were proverbial. quarcuyara. Lord Rully, who had reached the ripe age of 82 years, had up to comparatively lake years enjoyed a very active life, and in the political world was a resy conspicious figure. In his early manhood he was a member of the County Lumerick Grand Jury, and afterwards foreman of that body. In 1835 he was High Sheriff of Limerick Grand Jury, and eity also. We find that in the year 1847—a year when Irish affaird occupied very considerable attention, and legislation to ameliorate the condition of the poor in this country had been discussed—Mr Monsell was one of the candidates for the representation of the county inderies. In his address to the electors he promised to "labour earnestly forfithese practical measures, the postponement of which leven for another year will involve us in missry and ruin; for the development of our agricultural and manufacturing resources; for the pronotion of railways, for the encouragement of fisheries." It is important to note the interest even then centred in the land question, for Mr Monsell promised "to support a system of Tenank Right which will secure to the occupier compensation for peruanent improvement on his farm." He was opposed by Mr George John O'Connell, who dated his address from "Creacent, Limerick, 2nd August 1847." Mr. Nolan declared himself elected, and thanked the Board for electing him to such an important position. He assured them that it was with much diffidunce he accepted the posts because he considered it very important, and were it not that he would be assured that they would extend him the sune support as chairman that they had extended to him on the few occasions during the past year on which he had to preside as chairman he certainly would refuse it. The, ewas one matter he would especially wish to refer to, and that was that is, his opinion he thought they ought not to cauciton the expenditure of any more money in connection with this institution until they had it in working order, when they found—if they did find at all—that it was necessary to make further alterations then by all means let them do it, but for the present he thought they should confine themselves to what they had begun already.

The adjourned application from Miss Signeson, wastron, for an increase of salary, was next considered.

matron, for an increase of aslary, was next considered.

In her application Miss Sigerson said she had completed a term of one year in the infirmary, and during that time no fault had been found with either her work or the management of it. She concluded she had given the Governors every satisfaction, and she would therefore respectfully call their attention to one fact, that she had come at a salary of 210 a year less than their late matron, which increase she asked.

The application at the last meeting was strongly supported by Mr Soanlan, but on the suggestion of his Lordship it was postponed. The unjority of the Governors were in favour of granting the increase. Mr Cullinan remuring that it was he who proposed Miss Sigerson at the time of her appointment at a salary of 240, and as 'the had given them satisfaction since he would propose the increase be given. Mr Scanlan also spoke in tavour of the application.

The increase was then ananimously agreed to.

From the evidence it appeared that Drumliffe is infested by bands of those tinkers, who are the contre of continuous amoyance to the inhabitants of the locality. Their frequent quarrels between themselves, from family and ir professional causes, have led to repeated appearances in court. The Bourke's ween now committed to limerick Gaol for one moith. Casey was ordered to find bail, himself in 50s, and two sureties in 25s, for his future good behaviour, or in default he was ordered to be imprisoned in Limerick Gail for a month.

There were a large number of drunken cases, in which the usual fines were imposed.

CYCLING.

THE COMMERCIAL BICYCLE CLUB. This club held a 12-mile road race over th Rosbrien course, on Thursday ovening last. Th weather was beautifully fine, and the spectators Considered so.

Clerk—The Local Government Board will not consider it so.

Mr. O'Meara—If that be so we will have no contracts at all built on the alternative sites. a renity has control to scratch mark, who rode in grand form and wan rather easily by a few lengths. Alleopp, Marsh, and E Conyers finished in a banch, and are a trio who have wonderfully improved since last season. Next came Walpele and Mcliroy wheel and wheel, just passing Mulcahy as the Jape was reached. This pair are bound to show better form in the next event with a little more training; so will Mulcahy. are bound to show better form in the next with a little more training; so will.
