DEATH OF MR MICHAEL KENNY, FREAGH CASTLE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Miltown Malbay, Wednesday.

Mr Michael Kenny, of Freagh Castle, died at his residence to-day, deeply regretted by a very large family circle and a host of friends. The deceased was father of the member for Mid-Tyrone, Mr Mathew Joseph Kenny, and also the late and much lamented Mr W R Kenny, J P, whose tragic death occurred some six weeks ago. He was brother to Rev Mathew Kenny, P P, Castleconnell, Co Limerick, and was in his 68th year. Mr Kenny, who was admitted a solicitor 44 years ago, enjoyed a large practice up to the time of his retirement. His integrity was so regarded that in numerous instances the settlement of long-standing disputes was left unreservedly in his hands. He was widely known for his benevolence and kindly nature. Mr Kenny was a successful and enterprising farmer, and stood high with the business community, where his word was as good as his bond. For several years he was a guardian of the Ennstymon Union, and President of the St Joseph's Total Abstinence Society of Miltown Malbay.

MARKETS' TRUSTEES.

The fortnightly meeting of the Markets Trustees was held yesterday, Mr Wm Spillane, J P, the chair. Also present—Messrs W L Stok J P; Wm M Nolan, P Herbert, D F M'Namara, T Dicken, P MacDonnell, J Gilligan, Jan Harris, Alderman Riordan, Michael Egan.

Mr Hardiman read the minutes of last meeting, which were signed.

A letter was read from Mr H J Guinane, Cio of the Union, stating that he was directed by the Veterinary Department of the Privy Council request that the Trustees would state what steps had been taken in reference to the Travellers' Inspector's report as to the unsatisfactory state of the pig market, as set out in copy of report read in December last.

The Secretary said that this matter had been referred to Mr Corbett, C E, whose report he had read, stating that the cost of re-constructing the sheds and covering the roof with galvanised iron would be, he estimated, cost £180.

The Chairman thought it was the state of the flooring to which the report specially referred Mr Egan—There was a committee of the Trustees appointed, and they reported that the roofs were defective.

Mr Harris said it would be necessary that they should look after the roofs.

Mr Herbert observed that there was a decline in pigs, and asked were all the styes required.

Mr Gilligan said all the styes were required. He said that the state of the flooring was very bad, and that they were not cleansed, as in other markets. Such a state of things would not be tolerated in any other part of the world but Limerick.

The Chairman said the floors should be concreted instead of paved. No pavement could possibly be cleansed if pigs were allowed to be in it.

Mr M'Namara—We may be able to go on with the work by degrees.

Mr Gilligan—If they catch one case of swine fever in the market they will close it on a moment altogether.

Mr Egan—That would be a serious matter.

Mr Stokes—I propose that you give instructions that these twelve styes be concreted.

Some of the members were in favour of having the roofing taken up at once.

The Chairman thought the concreting and roofing might be gone on concurrently and by degrees.

It was decided as an experiment that one stye be flagged, another concreted, and both to be roofed with corrugated iron.

The other business was routine.

WATER BAILIFFS COMMITTEE.

The exempt
