SHOCKING DEATH OF A MISER.

The Liverpool coroner was informed on Tuesday of the death of a middle-aged woman named Ellen Jones. She lived in a cellar in Milford street in most abject poverty; the neighbours not seeing her about as usual, sent for the police, and when they entered the wretched place the woman was found lying dead on a heap of rags, underneath her being a bag containing £80 in gold. She had starved herself to death.

waggon was being recently unloaded, one of the men observed a little moss protruding from a small hole in the centre of one of the buffers. Upon examination he found inside the buffer a snug nest, containing one tiny egg. As the waggon had travelled from North Stafford to Histon, near Cambridge, a distance of 150 miles, the marvel is that the egg was not broken. The poet Cowper has immortalized a pair of chaffinches which built their nest in a pulley-block near the top of a mast and then followed the ship to sea—a privilege denied to the ingenious protectors of this remarkable nesting-place.
