point, which he quickly magnified into an outrage upon the tender susceptibilities of "our member for Limerick." In Sic Richard Webster's motion John Daly was described as having been guilty of "felony." With unfailing gravity Mr Healy protested that the word was both inaccurate and insulting. "Mr Daly was convicted of treasonfelony, not of felony, as is shown by the official return which has just been read to the House." He was allowed to enlarge on this theme until some one quietly suggested that he should read the return again. "I haven't a copy, unfortunately." A copy was handed to him, and at a glance the smart little lawyer saw that his whole point was founded on a misstatement. Whereat he beamed round on the House and coelly remarked that the document was too long to read.

DEATH OF DR. W. H. HYNES, ENNIS.

With deep regret we record the death of Dr. William H. Hynes, which occurred last evening at his residence, Old Ground, Ennis. He had been in failing health for a considerable time, and with a turn very much for the worst last week it was felt the end was not far off and that a promising career would be cut short in the very prime of life. Dr. Hynes was quite a young man, being only 40 years of age. His school and collegiate courses were very successful, and when he began to practice in Ennis early in the '80's his friends prophesied a bright future. Nor were these anticipations unrealised. His winning, gentle disposition, and unaffected unostentatious manner won him friends on every side, and up to his death it can, without fear of contraadiction, he saidf that Dr Willie Hynes, as he was popularly known, retained these friends. a vacancy occurred in the medical officership of the Ennis Union Workhouse on the retireme .t of Dr Patt Cullinan, in May, 1882, he was appointed to the responsible position, and a little over three years later, on the death of Dr Rynne, he was appointed to the charge of the Crusheen District, a large and important one. He was also appointed apothecary to the Clare Lunatic Asylum. Besides these appointments, he had a large private practice, so that this may truly be said to have been a most busy life. His patients could never speak sufficiently of his unfailing gentleness and courtesy. During his illness, his old friend and colleague, Dr Greene, was constant in his attendance, while in the later stages he had the further advantage of Dr R P Gelston's attendance. The funeral will take place on Friday, leaving at three o'clock sharp for Quin Abbey. Dr Hynes was brother-in-law of Major M J Kenny, of this city.

Mr A J Balfour's expenses at the recent election in East Manchester have been returned at £763, while those of his opponent, Mr Muncoe, are £699.

and the hardship that would be created by depriving a lot of men immediately of their way of livelihood that the resolution he (Mr Dundon) proposed was adopted by the Council and the effect of which was to bring about the gradual abolition of the watch, and make subsequent arrangements for the purpose of having the city protected. The Commission referred to by Alderman Landers was presided over by Mr McCarthy, RM, and Mr Justice Fitzgerald, now Land Commissioner. There was a report made by that Commission, and they recommended that a certain number of police should be employed, but the report was not adopted and no change introduced. He (Mr Dundon) had no doubt if a plan were proposed for a certain number of police in lieu of the deficiency in the watch, it could be carried out, but the initiative should come from the Council.

Mr Clune moved that the Town Clerk obtain the cost per man of the police, and that Mi McMahon's motion be deferred.

Mr Anglim seconded the motion.

Mr Richard Gleeson contrasted the action of some people, who made speeches on public platforms in favour of Home Rule with their action in trying to do away with the night watch.

Mr Anglim said he was as good a Home Ruler as Mr Gleeson, but he objected to the watch being increased. If they had twenty men for the last six months the city would be no better

The High Sheriff supported the resolution, but objected to the appointment of feeble men. It was right to give everyone credit for what they deserved, and the Council should recollect the great saving in the lighting of the city effected by the night watch in putting out the public lamps on the moontight nights, and also by the inspectors in having the lamps extinguished at a proper hour in the morning.
