...the very great excitement of saying that they have tried the very best tuners in London and have never met any other tuner for perfection of tuning that could approach Mr K. This high opinion from such distinguished musical and disinterested families is unquestionable. Mr K. can boast of not only having made the largest connexion ever made by one man but the most important of all he has kept it, and the only chance there is for other ordinary tuners is the ridiculously low prices they charge for roughly tuning instruments for a large number of families that are unacquainted with fine tuning. Mr K. does not call or solicit tunings, his engagements are all by special invitation and command. Mr Keller has a deputy always in attendance in his absence for urgent tunings, and for the sale and hire of pianos. His deputy is far superior to the general class of tuners.
