CONFESSION OF MURDER COMMITTED TWELVE YEARS AGO.
 At Bilston yesterday, Isaac Doughty, a miner, was charged, on his own confession, with having murdered a young woman named Elisa Cort-wright in 1884. The evidence of Sergeant Hayward was that on Sunday the prisoner went to Handsworth police station and confessed to having murdered Cortwright with another man named William Davies, who died six years ago.
 The prisoner is alleged to have said Davies and himself waylaid the woman and beat her on the head with rough cinders. Remanded.

THE OUTRAGE IN A RAILWAY CARRIAGE.
 Alfred Locke was again brought before the East Grimstead magistrates yesterday, charged with the attempted murder of Miss Clarke, on the Brighton Railway. Superintendent Reft said said Miss Clarke was too weak to attend, and there being no further evidence to offer at present, the case was adjourned for a week.
