

of the family in that Continent. To in-
bles, comes the melan-disaster, accompanied any lives. One of the ys a piece of informa-
the general cloudiness to the effect that not of Jameson and his t that they will be rethout delay. If this d upon fact, it will go satisfactory solution of would be the wisest Kruger and his party.
in the Transvaal, and Great Britain. The
nt enormous wealth into serious quarrel with pp the steady flow of pposed the Boers keep ests, and it is to their ic peace and confidence Jameson is extremely
a. He is regarded as of such a man would f indignation that Boer ept away altogether. eson a martyr to the ite all South Africa ere is one indication suppose that President

10s. The judge will be Mr W J Hooged, and the stipper John Call, Mr P Moloney, Greenpark House, Limerick, is hon secretary.

DROPPED DEAD AT HER MOTHER'S FUNERAL.

A very melancholy case of sudden death occurred at Pallaskenry on Saturday. Mrs O'Brien, daughter of a respectable farmer named John Kelly, resident in this district, attended her mother's funeral, and when nearing the burial place at Castletown she got off her car to walk, but had scarcely gone three paces when she fell on the ground and died almost instantaneously. The clergy in attendance at the funeral did all in their power for the poor woman, but it was found that life was extinct. The sad event has cast considerable gloom over the neighbourhood, and much sympathy is felt for the friends of deceased in their bereavement. An inquest was held upon the body yesterday, and after formal evidence had been given, the jury returned a verdict of heart disease.

COACHMAN'S SOCIETY.

"A Coachman" writes to us making a suggestion, which we are certain will be warmly taken up by his confreres, and will also, we have no doubt, receive the cordial support of the gentry.
The idea is to have, what already exists in Dublin and Cork, that is a sort of club in the city where men, while waiting for their master or mistress, could profitably spend their time over a book or paper. At present one is rather inclined to commiserate with the man who holds the ribbons, and who has to kill time in a dreary fashion while his employer is engaged shopping or transacting business of one kind or other. There is no reason why the projected society should not be carried out successfully. The object is a good one, and deserves the support of all who are in a position to lend it their aid.

white gloves, he should say, in the world (laughter), but as the authorities had not yet discovered what his size is, he was entirely unable to wear them (laughter). He was glad to hear that the city was peaceable and quiet, and he was happy to learn prosperous. The amount of civil business at these sessions was largely in excess of the last January sessions, and when they found the criminal business declining and the civil business increasing the city was peaceable and prosperous, and he sincerely wished that this condition of things would continue to characterise this ancient city.

His Honor then discharged the Grand Jury LICENSING BUSINESS.

The following magistrates were present to assist the Chairman in disposing of the licensing applications—Messrs E F Hickson, R M; John Guinane, James O'Mara, Zachary Myles, W F O'Grady, Alderman Cleary, and Alderman Hall.

The following transfers were granted without opposition:—Patrick Egan, 24 Cecil street; Thomas Gunning, 20 High street; George Har-42 George street (new license); Mary C Hayes, Colooney street; Anne Hogan, 6 Treaty Terrace; Patrick Kavanagh, 37 Edward street; Michael McNamara, 1 North Strand; Michael J O'Regan, 16 Wickham street; Edward Whit, 14 Broad street; Thomas White, George's Quay.

With reference to the case of Mr George Hare, who was obliged to make his application in the form of a new license,

His Honor said that publicans were entitled to the same protection as any other class of business people. The present application had become necessary owing to some fatality with regard to the service of notice, and magistrates, through a pretended love for temperance, should not show severity to publicans no more than any other class.

In the case of Anne Hogan, the transfer was granted on condition that she should erect a wall which the police considered necessary in order that the place would be under proper supervision.

The solicitors engaged in the different cases