We announce with deep regret, which is shared by a very wide circle of friends, the death of a young and highly exteemed fallow citizen, Mr Lorenze Robert Switz, eldest son of Mr R W Switzer, which took place at an early bout this morning at his residence, Nn. 4 Vintoria Terrace. "Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O death." the poet writes, and while at all times it is is and thing to lose a befored friend or relative who lit has obtained the full enjoyment of years; it is doubly sad, and indeed insurpressibly so, when Death lays its iny fingers on the young, who to all human observance had had before him a long and a week, and honorable career. So it was with the young gentleman whose loss is motorned to day. Mr Lynch raised an objection to the form in which the process was brought. It was a serious matter for his client, who was an actioneer in a large way of busines a here. Mr Glynn danied this, and Mr McNamara, on being appealed to, said he never heard of the proposition.

Mr Miniken said the suggestion came fir. ma client of Mr Macnamara's and his clerk.

Mr Mannamara, solr, was appealed to by the Judge, and he said both parties were fighting with one another so much that he washed his hands of them, and left it between them (laughter). Justice would be done by letting it stand to next sessions:

He met the prisoners one day at Charing Cross, kept an appointment with them for the following day at Chelsea emission of the trinting thousands to the poor, part of the proceeds of the salord lands to a railway compuny. The prosecutor understood that he was to have a ten per cent commission on the charitable distribution for showing his confidence, and without hesitation be entrusted his pures and monay to McCarthy. After the prisoner had gone off with the money he waited four bours for them to return. The fresh case of robbing the young man from Limerick was of a more heartless character. BARNSLEY ELECTION.

The polling for Barnsley has resulted in the election of Mr Waiton, the Liberal candidate, by 6.744 votes to 3.454, recorded for his Unionist opponent. Captain Blyth. The election was complicated by the presence of a third candidate, Mr Curran, representative of the Independent Labour Earley, who obtained 1.081 votes, many of which, no doubt, he drew from the Unionist side. The character of the representation of the constituency remains unchanged. The Liberal majority in 1892 was 3.241.

A VERY HUNGRY "CASUAL"s

A tramp broke out of the casual ward of the union workhouse at Sleaford, Lincolnshire, recently, in the middle of the night, and, wrapped only inla bed-rug, walked into town. In Carre-street he mashed the window of a baker's alop and alped himself liberally to bous and cakes. These he took back to the workhouse, which he re-ained unobserved; but his inability to eat the whole of his plunder led to his arrest.
