stand that the Penny Dinners will be on the 8th November, and a public dinner to be held in the Athenæum on the 10th at 3 o'clock to make arrangements in connection with them. It is a highly charitable and this season there is more interest in it, owing to the large number of suffering and privation existing among the deserving poor, and rendered all the more so by the partial failure of the potato crop and the consequently high price of that article of food. We feel sure that the public will, as in previous seasons, liberally contribute to the funds of the Penny Dinners.

DEATH OF MR. L. R. SWITZER.

We announce with deep regret, which is shared by a very wide circle of friends, the death of a young and highly esteemed fellow-citizen, Mr Lorenzo Robert Switzer, eldest son of Mr R W Switzer, which took place at an early hour this morning at his residence, No. 4 Victoria Terrace. "Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O death," the poet writes, and while at all times it is a sad thing to lose a beloved friend or relative who has obtained the full enjoyment of years, it is doubly sad, and indeed inexpressibly so, when Death lays its icy fingers on the young, who to all human observance had had before him a long and a useful, and honorable career. So it was with the young gentleman whose loss is mourned to-day. To intrude on the acute sorrow and gloom prevailing in the family circle where he was beloved as an affectionate son, manly, warm-hearted, true to the heart's core, would be a painful and, indeed, an unnecessary task, and we shall only speak of him as he was known by the outside world during the comparatively short span of a most exemplary and active life. Mr Switzer at an early age entered the estate office of Mr E H Poe Hosford, and his sound judgment, grasp of business matters, and invariable courtesy to all, rich and poor, won for him that recognition his abilities deserved, and in time he became Mr Hosford's trusted and valued manager. Some two years ago his health became delicate, the result, it is said, of a chill after some athletic exercises, and his condition proving more serious it was deemed advisable that he should take a trip to Switzerland, it being hoped that the crisp, bracing, and recuperative air for which that picturesque country is famous, would in time renew the strong and healthy constitution which he had hitherto possessed. While in Switzerland the deceased did not allow his well-known literary abilities to lie dormant, as from time to time he communicated to the Chronicle most interesting and graphic narratives of the Swiss, their life, and their homesteads, while he also described the beauties of the country, and the chief amusements of the tourist during the winter months in the snow-clad mountains and valleys. He seemed to improve in health until a month or six weeks ago, when a change for the worse was noticeable, and Mr Switzer returned to Limerick. Since then he continued under the most skilful treatment, but life was gradually and peacefully ebbing away, and as already stated, the sad hour of parting on this earth came this morning in the presence of his heart-stricken parents and family. Mr Switzer was a young gentleman of varied talents. Literary, as we have already indicated, he closely identified himself with the Protestant Young Men's class, of which he had at one time been secretary, and at the general meetings of the Association he frequently took part in the discussion of matters of general interest, and proved himself a very effective and logical speaker. In musical matters he took an equally active interest, and being an Instrumentalist of no mean order he formed one of the numerous corps which took part in the Orchestral concerts and Amateur Opera produced here within recent years. He was a great lover of athletics and cycling, and while his health permitted was one of the secretaries of the L.A.A. & B.C. His desire to please, to make himself useful where he could be of use, and his untainted sacrifice of time and labour, made him a general favourite with all classes of the public. His early demise is deeply deplored, and the utmost sympathy is expressed with his family in their poignant sorrow and irreparable loss. The funeral will leave Victoria Terrace for St Munchin's Church on Monday morning at ten o'clock.

DEATH OF MR. A. WARREN, CLERK OF

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. GEORGE HARRIS.

The funeral of the late Mr George Harris took place yesterday, the remains being conveyed from his late residence at Alston, Croom, at two o'clock, for interment at St Laurence's Cemetery. The cortege was composed of the leading residents of the county and city, and was of extremely large proportions, the line of carriages which followed the hearse extending a mile in length. The route of the procession was by Rossbrien; a number of carriages from the city, proceeding in the Patrickswell direction, were unable to join the procession until it had passed through the city. Large numbers of citizens swelled the attendance at the approach to the city, all classes being represented, giving evidence of the universal respect in which the deceased gentleman was held. As the mournful procession passed through the streets, the business houses were closed, and signs of regret and sympathy were everywhere observed.

The chief mourners were—Mr Richard Harris, brother; Colonel Healy, uncle; Captain Loftus Bryan, brother-in-law; and Mr Sidney Harris, Mr J J Browne, C.E., Mr P O'Meehan, surgeon, dentist, and Mr M O'Meehan, Ennis, cousins.
