Dr. Counihan asked if anything could be done to prevent the destruction of salmon by seals. Some time ago he walked along the shore near his place (Kilrush) and he counted five heads of salmon, and he was informed there were more on the other side. Chairman—What would you suggest, Dr. Counihan? Dr. Counihan thought a reward might be offered for the destruction of seals. Mr. Blood-Smyth—The Clare coast is alive with seals, and it is almost impossible to kill them. Mr. Heaton-Armstrong remarked that it was a very difficult matter to deal with. After some further conversation the matter dropped. Some other matters having been disposed of, the board adjourned.
