"MUNGRET ANNUAL."

t ever welcome publication, the Mungret Annual, is now before us, and we confidently be it as one of the most attractive college lines we have seen. The literary contents an unusually high order of interest, and is to appeal to the taste of a far wider circle ders than a magazine of this class might be ed to cater for. Thus the Celtic poem on Abbey (translated and annotated in a rly style by the Rev. J. M'Erlean, S.J.) is rely valuable from an historic as well as a y standpoint, and all who take a pride in ancient religious annals of Ireland make it a point to study it. The original contributions to the Mungret Annual are also well worthy of l by Irish readers. As regards the illustrations with which the magazine is profusely supplied it would be impossible to speak in too high of their richness and beauty. The letterpress, also, is excellent, while the binding and appearance of the publication are quite creditable. Messrs. Guy and Co., Limerick, the publishers, cannot receive too much credit for the manner in which they have discharged their task.
 The price is 1s. 3d. post free, or, in case of an order for several copies, only 1s. each.

SERIOUS FIRE.

A fire broke out at an early hour on Saturday morning in the townland of Doonuss, where some valuable property belonging to Mr. William O'Brien was destroyed. Fortunately the fire was noticed at about 3 p.m. in an outhouse which was destroyed. In this a valuable hennet was stabled, and, of course, the unfortunate animal perished before attention was drawn to the occurrence.
 In addition a valuable set of Cooper's implements was consumed. Quite close to the conflagration

VILLANOUS ACT.

Dec. 23 :—"On Friday night last a number of villains, as yet unknown, broke into the house of Thomas Whaley, near Tipperary, whom they robbed of 12 guineas, after which they beat him and his brother most unmercifully.
 What renders the conduct of the wretches the more aggravating is, that Whaley bears the most unblemished character. A reward of 40 guineas is offered for apprehending those villains by Thomas Smithwick, of Bawnlough, Esq."

A DULL XMAS.

Dec. 27 : "The approach of Christmas, which formerly induced a brisk sale of almost all kinds of articles has, we are concerned to relate, no such effect at present. On the connot a little increased by the non-arrival of the merchant ships from the southward."

EXECUTION.

Dec. 27 : "The execution of Francis Revel, for the murder of F. Barry, Esq., took place on Thursday last, and on the awful occasion the unhappy criminal displayed an exemplary and edifying sense of his enormous guilt, and a repentant confidence in the mercy of God. In addressing the multitude assembled to witness his ignominious death, after acquitting the woman charged with having accessory to his crime, he impressively exhorted them to refrain from those habits that led to his crime and punishment, and particularly that of drinking to excess."
