HARRIS'S MACHINE-MADE BREAD

ANG OUTRAGE IN THE CITY.

A German, owner of a chip-potatoe rested by the police last night charged with assault on Private James Fenton, of the Royal Irish Regiment, who is at Lough. It would appear that about one o'clock the soldier went over to the shop near Mr. Nestor's corner, to buy potatoes. He put in his hand to the pot of the boiler, whereupon the private came out the door, with the result that the man was caught in it. This led to a fight between the parties, and the prisoner is now in custody. He dealt the soldier a blow of a poker which inflicted a fracture of the skull.
The man was removed to Barrington's where depositions were taken this morning before Dr. O'Shaughnessy, D.L., and was remanded to Petty Sessions. The man was released on favourably.
