 he or both receive compensation whether this is a question, "the Justice of the law, rather within the scope of the law. On the law as it stands the renewal of a licence may be reproof of misconduct, the persons affected by such refusal are not entitled to compensation. It would give justices a very hard case if they knew that a refusal would not be a hardship.

SUDDEN DEATH.

We regret to announce the death of a very respected citizen, Mr. Edward Clifford, clothier, William street, which occurred suddenly last evening. It would appear that he was passing up John Square about six o'clock when he fell down on the street. Some people at once came to his assistance and took him to the Dispensary, where he was examined by Dr. Lee, who found the poor gentleman beyond human aid. Deceased, who was aged about 60 years, had been suffering for a considerable time from heart disease. The facts of the case were reported by the police to the Coroner, who did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.
