the three masted French barque van Sadei foundered. The agents in Glasgow state that the crew, including the captain, numbered 27, and that all have perished.

So satisfactory has been the progress made with the construction of Shamrock III. that Messrs Denny, of Dumbarton, have just fixed the final hull plates, and a start will now be made with the decking of the challenger. A commencement has also been made to prepare Shamrock I., which is at present moored in Gareloch, Clyde, to act as a trial boat for the challenger.
