

104 champagne bottles, filled with powder, enveloped with musket balls, covered with canvas; 42,000 rounds of musket ball cartridges, tied up in parcels of 20 each, and 4 flints attached to each parcel; one scalding ladder complete; 156 grappling irons for scaling ladders; 2½ bushels of musket balls (about 150,000), tied up in four each, being charges for munderbusses; 14 quires of cartridge paper, 2 deal cases of sky rockets and other signals, a box of tin tubes for the hand grenades; 495 hooks, chisels, etc.; 48 quires of the proclamation of the Provisional Government; 1 large bench vice; 108 cartridge formers; 1 piece of green cloth; 1 saw, 2 planes, an old desk, with several interesting memorandums in it.

The above is an exact return of what was delivered into his Majesty's stores at the Royal Barracks. Of course this does not include the vast pikes, nor the rebel standards uniforms, bread, newly baked, porter, etc.

Gunpowder made up in a long hand-roll (like a sausage) for placing under walls and buildings, to blow them up, and the pikes mounted to upwards of seventeen thousand. They were of simple form and workmanship, and were broken up by the soldiery, it not being deemed necessary to deposit them in the stores.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The Master brought up the House Committee's suggestions on the Inspector's report as to certain improvements and alterations in the house.

They were adopted after some discussion.

MINERAL DEVELOPMENT IN CO. TIPPERARY.

It is understood that an English Company are about taking up the working of the long disused and extensive slate quarries situate at Glendpatrick, Kilsheelan, and Clonmel, and that several members of the company have visited the place within the past fortnight. It is stated that operations will begin soon. The mines are convenient to Kilsheelan railway station, which is a great advantage.
