

as a professional man—they knew him as a did specimen of Irish manhood, a philanthropist, and a man of heart and courage (applause). He was sure that in the companionship of the daughter of so noble a citizen, the in store for their young fellow-citizen would ever bright and happy (applause).

Long also spoke in eulogistic terms of Mr. Peacocke, and the father of his bride.

McGrath desired to add his expressions of congratulations. With regard to Dr. O'Sullivan, (Mr. McGrath) had been his house surgeon for a half year, and he could say that his ties of head and heart could not be surpassed (applause).

Dundon, Law Agent, on behalf of the citizens, joined in the happy proceedings. He thought the citizens ought to be congratulated on the important position which Mr. Peacocke held. He had conducted it in a manner which had met the approval of all classes, and earned their confidence and good will (applause).

The Town Clerk intimated that he had received an apology for non-attendance from Council members, Mr. O'Malley, Mr. Richard Harris, Rate Collector, and Dr. Graham, each of whom had important engagements.

The Mayor having made the presentation, Mr. Peacocke, who was warmly received, read thanks. It was very gratifying for him to find that his humble efforts in the discharge of his duty had met with approbation, and he felt it to maintain that confidence. On behalf of his wife and her father he thanked the speakers for their kind expressions (applause) and the proceedings then ended.

FATE OF THE UPUPA.

THE WRECKAGE AT QUEENSTOWN.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

An intense anxiety for further news of the ship Upupa still prevails, and theories of all kinds are put about to account for the old vessel's fate.

The wreckage discovered round the coast afforded material for serious discussion. The fact that the residents of the Geleen district had attention attracted to lights at sea on a dark night, and believed that these were sent up by the Upupa in distress, is noted in certain quarters. The Innisfallen, which was homeward bound from Milford, would, it is believed, have passed her about this time, and the general idea is that the foundering of the old ship occurred late on Thursday night or early morning.

GET WHITE HANDS IN A SINGLE NIGHT. Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry thoroughly and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure and purifier of mollients. Wear during the night old, loose fitting gloves. For red, rough, chapped, and discoloured hands, dry, fissured, itching, scaly palms, shapeless nails, with painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful.

Secretary wrote that the information on the point might be obtained from the Secretary of the Department.

The matter was referred to the General Committee.

SAD FAMILY AFFLICTION.

Deep and widespread sympathy is felt with Mr. John Dalton, proprietor of the extensive steam saw-mills and flour and meal merchant, Irishtown, Clonmel. Mrs. Dalton, who had been ailing for some six weeks past, died at her residence from acute pneumonia. Three hours later her little son, aged about six years, who had been suffering from bronchitis, also died. Previous to the fatal illness which overtook her, Mrs. Dalton, who was quite young, was the picture of life and health and the last one would expect to succumb so early. She was a fervent Catholic and a loving wife and mother, and in her the poor will miss a steady and constant friend. To Mr. Dalton, in the almost tragic affliction that has befallen him, the hearts of the citizens go out in sincere and unbounded sympathy.

ARREST OF MR. M. O'DWYER.

On Tuesday, Mr. Martin O'Dwyer, M.C.C., Rossmore, Secretary of the Mid-Tipperary Executive of the United Irish League, whose sentence of five months' imprisonment by a Crimes Act Court at Templemore—two months' hard labour and three in default of giving bail, for alleged intimidation—was confirmed at the last Thurles Quarter Sessions by Acting County Court Judge Pakenham Law, was arrested and taken to Gould's Cross railway station, whence he was conveyed via Limerick Junction to Clonmel by the 10.25 train. On his arrival he was taken by car to the County Gaol.

FATALITY AT FOYNES.

KILLED AT HIS WORK.

A man named Mathew Moroney, who lived at Ballynash, was killed yesterday at noon, at Foynes. Moroney, who was a carter, was backing his horse into a haystack to load, when he was struck by the cart in the breast—the animal having made a rush—and fatally injured. Much sympathy is expressed with his widow and her eleven children.

Private Michael Brown, of the Irish Guards, was tempted by a stranger in High-street, Whitechapel, to purchase a bottle of "John Dewar whisky" for 1s. 6d. A couple of detectives who had watched the transaction persuaded the soldier to examine his purchase. It was then discovered that the whisky was merely coloured water. The vendor was arrested, and at Thames Police Court sent to prison for a couple of months.

ery light, and had the advantage of prospect. Amytis, the wife of the king, bred in Media (for the king of Media), the king of Media, was taken with its parts. To gratify her, Nel this prodigious edifice to be Ancient History, Vol. II. page

INTOXICATED.

The "etherisation" of plants, although not new on the Continent, is a practical exponent in the U.S. T. Jannock, of Dersingham, described by a correspondent

By this method many plants naturally early in the spring are obtained in full bloom during at very small cost.

The operation is ridiculous all is the construction of a gas tank, which, after the plants it, may be hermetically sealed, poured into a small cup, which of the tank, and after the latter is allowed to evaporate for hours.

At the expiration of this time the plants shed their leaves and are as being in a state of complete rest are exposed to the air for forty days follows a second period of etherisation, after which they are to an ordinary forcing-house, rapidly develop, and within ten days throw forth their pure white flowers.

CHARACTER FROM

Persons who are interested in graphology, chiromancy, or palmistry, are glad to learn that a new prediction has been invented. "Science Siftings" as phonology, and it is based on the character of every person from his voice. A voice which is melodious, we are told, indicates frankness, honesty and strength, whereas a voice which is gruff indicates an indication of ill temper and other qualities.

The Most Numerous
E P P
Grateful—Correct
C O C
SPECIALTY