TWO FATALITIES IN COUNTY LIMERICK. FROM DAY TO

It is reported that two fatalities have occurred near Pallas and Doon, County Limerick, about nine miles from Tipperary, during the last few days. On Tuesday last a farmer named Maurice Power, aged 30, residing at Gurthavalla, near Doon, was drawing hay to a rick for Wm. Grady, publican, Doon, and when returning at nightfall one of the wheels of his car ran up on the ditch, causing the car to overturn, catching the unfortunate man underneath and crushing in his chest. His brother or some of the neighbours coming on afterwards, found the horse knocked down, and released him and brought him to a place of safety. On coming back to right the car they were astonished to find Power underneath quite dead. His funeral took place on Thursday. About the time it was in progress a man named Cornelius Ryan, aged 75, residing near Old Pallas, was engaged not far away in cutting down a tree, which fell and broke his skull, killing him instantly.

LABOUR AGITATION.

SIR G LANGUAGE.

At the Kiltrush Council meeting on Thursday night, the local Land and Labour Association called on the Council to in future employ members of their body.

The Labour Party who rule the Urban authority strongly expressed itself in favour of the suggested proposal.

Heated altercations followed as the other party in the Council made a most emphatic protest against the system of monopoly.

Mr. O'Doherty, one of the largest labour employers in the town, in opposition to the motion said it was merely electioneering tactics, now that the time for the contests was approaching near, and the labour party here were merely putting a price on each labourer's vote.

Mr. Crotty added that it was a mere trick and dodge that would deceive no one.

Ultimately a poll was taken and the motion carried by the chairman's casting vote.

SEVERE GALE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

During the gale at Helensburg this morning, the gable of the dwelling house fell upon a cottage, killing Bessie Kirk, aged seven years, and Alexander Johnstone, five weeks. Kirk's father was also badly injured.

A heavy gale prevailed at Birmingham to-day. The gable end of a building in course of erection was blown down. A lad was fatally crushed.
