planked down at once to start it. It would be a good thing, of course, but by no means as good as the tweed factory for the purpose of giving employment to hundreds of our unemployed boys and girls in Kilmish. But this scheme, too, like the others, has now very probably collapsed. All our enterprises end like a flash in the pan.

DEATH OF MR. WM. O'DELL.

We regret to announce the death, which took place yesterday at his residence, Redgate, near the city, of Mr. William O'Dell, in the 68th year of his age. Deceased had been in failing health for the past couple of months, and the news of his death was received in town this morning with deep regret by a wide circle of friends. Deceased was a member of an old County Limerick family—grandson of the late Mr. Wm. O'Dell, of Ballinparry, and great-grandson of the late Colonel O'Dell. Mr. O'Dell was for a lengthened period Sergeant-Major of the 5th Battalion Royal Munster Fusiliers, from which he retired several years ago. The funeral will take place from Redgate at ten o'clock on Easter Monday for St. Mary's Cathedral.
