FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. EVANS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Evans, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel H. J. Evans, commanding 2nd Battalion the King's Regiment, whose sad demise we recorded in our last issue, took place yesterday afternoon from the New Barracks to the King's Island Cemetery. The demise of this popular lady is very deeply mourned by officers and all ranks in the Regiment, and the deepest sympathy is expressed with Lieutenant-Colonel Evans in his great sorrow. The remains were borne by a party of non-commissioned officers from the Colonel's residence to the Garrison Chapel, and on the coffin being taken into the sacred edifice Chopin's "March Funèbre" was beautifully played by the band. In the procession were a number of the boys of the Regiment each carrying exquisite wreaths and crosses, sent by personal friends of the deceased lady as well as from the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the King's. These floral offerings were so numerous, that in addition to those placed on the coffin a carriage was specially requisitioned to take the remainder to the cemetery. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. G. L. Swain (who also read the concluding portion of the service at the graveyard) and as the coffin was being borne from the chapel, the solemn strains of the Dead March in Sol issued forth. A party of six sergeants of the Regiment (three at each side of the hearse) acted as pall bearers, and a body of non-com. o's also took part in the cortege, while a large number of the rank and file had assembled at the cemetery as a mark of respect and sympathy. LADY'S PICTORIAL.

In to-day's "Lady's Pictorial" are several excellent photographs connected with the Royal visit to Ireland. They include the Vice-Royal House Party, their Majesties at Punchestown, and the King and Queen crossing Carlisle Bridge to lay the foundation stone of the Royal College of Science. The fashion plates are suggestive of very graceful costumes for the early summer. Smart gowns worn at Punchestown are also illustrated. The latest society weddings are as usual, minutely described, and the photographs of the happy people are given.

At Ennis Petty Sessions yesterday, Patrick Cunnane was charged with stealing an overcoat and cane from the Military Barracks, Ennis, the property of Sergeant-Major Smith.

Mr. James Lynch defended. Sergeant Abbott caught the defendant with the coat and cane. He said he must have left his own somewhere, and did not know how these came into possession.

By Mr. Lynch—Accused had some drink taken.

Defendant was sent for trial to the Quarter Sessions, bail being accepted.

URANIUM PHOSPHORESCENCE.

According to Professor Becquerel, the light emitted spontaneously by certain salts of uranium is out of all proportion to the feeble radio-activity of the salts, and is most marked in those salts which phosphoresce most brilliantly when exposed to light. The effects are best shown by the double sulphate of uranyl and potassium, and there is a relation between the luminosity and the phosphorescence, since different preparations of this double salt unequally phosphorescent to light are also unequally luminous in the dark. The effects observed are so small that it is necessary for the observer to be in the dark for some time before attempting an experiment. Crystals of the double sulphate exposed to the intense radiation of an electric arc or of a radium salt, and then examined some seconds later in the dark, were no more luminous than specimens of the same salt which had been kept continuously in the dark. The light was too feeble to permit of the examination of the spectrum.

ORIGIN OF NATURAL ASPHALTE.

The origin of natural asphalt or bitumen has given rise to much speculation, and the suggestion has been made that it is produced by the destructive distillation of vegetable remains mixed with organic matter, and especially with fish. Another possible explanation is suggested by the production of an artificial asphalt by heating natural petroleum with sulphur. The series of paraffins is not affected by this treatment, but the naphthenes which are present in the petroleum undergo condensation and give rise to bodies which may be regarded as typical constituents of asphalt. Two of these, prepared by the action of sulphur on acenaphthene, have been described by Karl Dzewonski in the Berichte. The first is a hydrocarbon (trinaphthylene benzene), melting at 357deg. C., which contains no less than ten independent ring systems, and is therefore named decacyclene whilst the second is a sulphur-compound (dinaphthylenethiophen), melting at 278deg. C.

LORD PLUNKETT.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Lord Plunkett left Plymouth to-day for New Zealand to take up his post as Governor in succession to Lord Ranfurly.

OZONE AND RADIO-ACTIVITY.

In the Sitzungsberichte of the Prussian Academy Professor Richard and Dr. Schenck direct attention to some very striking analogies between radio-activity and the behaviour of ozone. Freshly prepared ozone and ozone that has been decomposed by deoxygenisers have the power of causing condensation in a steam jet, and impart conductivity to the air in a similar manner to those metallic salts which emit Becquerel radiation. The photographic effect of radio-active substances has also been observed in the case of ozone, and although it does not act upon barium platinicyanide or zinc oxide, it causes hexagonal zinc blende to fluoresce brightly, and this is regarded as evidence that massive ions are produced comparable with the α rays of radium and the canal rays of the vacuum tube. Platinum that has been in contact with ozone exhibits induced radio-activity, and it is suggested that the slight conductivity normally observed in the atmosphere and certain of the effects produced by radio-active bodies may perhaps be due to the formation and decomposition of ozone or hydrogen peroxide.

those in the procession was the parish priest, Rev Canon Lyon, who ordered the bell of his church to be tolled while the procession passed by. The flag at H.M. prison was lowered to half mast, the business places were shuttered, and window blinds drawn at all the residences.

On Wednesday at the funeral the whole populace attended, many being visibly affected as all that was mortal of the good clergyman was laid to its final rest by the Very Rev. the Dean of Tuam, with whom was his Lordship the Bishop of Tuam, Dr. O'Hare.

The family have been the recipients of many touching tributes of love and respect, and expressions of sympathy.

FATAL BURNING ACCIDENT.

A sad burning accident occurred last night to Miss Daisy O'Sullivan, aged 8, daughter of our popular fellow-citizen, Mr. John M. O'Sullivan, Albert Villa. At about eight o'clock the child was in the kitchen, and coming into close contact with the fire her clothes ignited, causing extensive injuries to the lower portion of the body. She was removed with all haste to St. John's Hospital, where she died later from shock. On examination it was found that the burns she received were for the most part superficial. At the time of the accident Mr. O'Sullivan was attending a meeting of the Markets Field Syndicate. Much sympathy is felt with him and his family in their bereavement.
