"INS AND OUTS."

IS THE "CHRONICLE" IN THE COMBINE?

(From our own Correspondent.)

It would seem that the pungent paragraph in a recent issue of the "Chronicle" in reference to the "Ins and Outs" of the Kilrush Hospital and Infirmary, has added "fuel to fire" among these young and amiable ladies, for at the meeting of the Guardians on Saturday they had another resignation from Miss Margaret Scanlon.

Mr. Casey—What is the cause of this running away week after week?

The Chairman—Bad feeling, I suppose?

Mr. Casey—But we have never received any complaint about that.

Master—I don't think at all that it is a case of bad feeling. They are boarded better than they would be elsewhere.

Mr. Casey—Then what do you think is the cause of the resignations?

The Master—I have no idea. After they are here a bit, they don't seem satisfied to remain, but go off with themselves.

Mr. Casey—What do you think of binding them to stay for a certain period after election?

TRAGIC AFFAIR AT PARK.

FARMER'S SUICIDE.

An inquest was held yesterday in the house of Mr. Dennis Woods, Park, near the city, by Mr. Coroner DeCoursey and a jury on the remains of John Quilligan, 40, farmer, whose body was found suspended from a rafter in an outhouse the previous day.

Acting Sergeant Wilson conducted the enquiry.

Michael Quilligan, nephew of the deceased, deposed that the latter who was unmarried lived with his mother. At 1.15 on Sunday he went to look for deceased and after searching for some time found his body suspended by means of a cord from the rafter, in his pig-house. The cord was round his neck and witness was subsequently assisted in cutting down the body by Michael McNamara. Life was then extinct, and the doctor and priest were sent for.

The Coroner—Was there anything near him that he was standing on at the time? Yes, a beam.

To Acting-Sergeant Wilson—When I saw him his legs were not resting on anything.

Acting-Sergeant Wilson—Did you notice anything wrong with him for the past few days? He did not seem to be steady in his senses.

The Coroner—He appeared to be eccentric? Yes.

By Acting-Sergeant Wilson—He attended Mass that morning and went to his duty, and was seen about the locality of his own house afterwards.

The Coroner—Was he drinking lately? Yes, for some time; he was drinking heavily up to last Friday, but had not money difficulties.

By Acting-Sergeant Wilson—He met with an accident about three or four years ago, when he received an injury to the head, which necessitated his being laid up for a considerable period. Witness had heard it stated that as a result of that injury he was medically advised to lead a quiet life and abstain from drink.

To the Coroner—He was not speaking to him after returning from Mass, at about 10.30 o'clock. Neither did he know any person that was. The house in which deceased was found was bolted at the back and wedged by a stick at the front. So far as witness knew his uncle never expressed a wish of doing away with himself.

This was all the evidence submitted, and the jury found that deceased committed suicide while of unsound mind.

THE MIRUS FETE.

BOXING AND WRESTLING MATCHES.

The boxing and wrestling contests were brought to a most successful conclusion on Saturday. In boxing Joe Dalton, of Limerick, beat Jim Clarke, of Dublin, in three rounds. The referee was Sir Thomas Myles. In the fight between Jim Dalton, of Limerick, and Mike Dalton, of Dublin, no decision was given by desire. Sergeant Merriman, R.I.C., champion, beat Frank Smith, middle-weight champion, London, in two rounds, both of which were keenly contested. In wrestling there was a very exciting struggle between Frank and
