A Reuter's Paris telegram says:—A telegram from Warsaw to the "Echo de Paris" states that the agitation in the town increased as the date for the reopening of the schools approached. Grave doubts are entertained as to the expediency of opening the public schools on September 1st as at present intended.

A Reuter's St. Petersburg telegram says:—The "Petersburski Listok" and other papers having investigated the reports of the mutiny on board the "Imperator Alexander II" and the "Minnue," now state that there have merely been disputes regarding the pay of workmen employed aboard the repairing ship Angana.

Direct labour has been knocked on the head in Clare by the Local Government Board, who say the Council's declaration was not legally made, the meeting not being a half yearly one. A new schedule is to be prepared, and a question about "the delays of officialdom" is to be asked in Parliament.

DEATH OF MRS. FRANCES MARY GABBETT.

We regret to have record the death of Mrs. Frances Mary Gabbett (mother of our esteemed citizen, Mr. Pool Gabbett), widow of the late Edmond Gabbett, of Corbally, and daughter of the late Captain Rich, R.A., of Woodlawn, Castleconnell. The sad event took place yesterday at Corbally, the deceased lady, who had been a long and patient sufferer, passing away peacefully at the fine old age of 80 years. To Mr. Poole Gabbett we tender our earnest sympathy, which, we are sure, will be shared in by all who knew the deceased lady and our esteemed citizen.

"TRILBY" AT THE THEATRE.

It was quite a pretty entertaining version of "Trilby" which was placed upon the stage at the Theatre Royal last night. The adaption was by Mr. Roy Jackson whose company produced the play. This is by no means the weather for theatre going, and the regatta wasn't over till nine o'clock, but still there was a good audience. They were most appreciative and enjoyed the play very much. Some "incidentals" introduced into the second act, such as the skit dancing and songs were well rendered, and the acting taken on the whole was highly commendable. Naturally the interest centres round Mr. Roy Jackson, whose "Svengali" was an excellent portrayal of the Polish jew, if his make-up was, perhaps, a little too ferocious for the modern idea of what "Svengali" was intended by Du Maurier to be like. The acting was characterised by great grasp and vigour, and was, as it deserved, frequently applauded. Miss Kittie Douglas made an ideal "Trilby." She looked the part to perfection, her acting was natural, and therefore talented, and that she possesses a beautiful voice and knows how to use it was demonstrated by her exquisite singing of that exquisite song, "Daddy," the tender pathos of which and fine rendering made the audience wish that she had given the whole of the song. We deprecate the introduction of burlesque into the rendering of the part of the Rev. Thomas Bago. It does not accord with the character and may hurt the susceptibilities of those who like not to look upon a representation of the ... which is certainly not in accord either
