DEATH OF THE DEAN OF LIMERICK.

We deeply regret to record the death of the Dean of Limerick, the Very Rev. James Fitzgerald Gregg, M.A., which took place at his residence the Deanery, Corbally, this forenoon, in the 86th year of his age.

The venerable gentleman had been in failing health for a considerable time past, but nevertheless continued to discharge his ministerial duties—so late as last Sunday week he preached in St. Mary's Cathedral—and so exhausted that strength and vigour which were remarkable in one of his very advanced years. For the past week he had been confined to his house, and there were hopes up to last night that he would soon become convalescent. A change for the worse then set in, and to-day at a quarter to twelve the Dean passed peacefully away in the presence of the members of his devoted family.

The deceased came of an old family who are connected with Clare and Cork, who have given some illustrious sons to the Church of Ireland, notably, John Gregg, Bishop of Cork, who was his uncle, while of later days, and therefore a man better remembered by the present generation, Robert Samuel Gregg, his cousin, who was made Bishop of Cork in 1878, and Primate of All Ireland in 1893.

The Rev. James Fitzgerald Gregg graduated in Trinity College, Dublin, took his B.A. degree (with Divinity Testimonial) in 1843, and M.A. five years later. He was ordained for Cullen, Co. Louth, in the year 1844, and in the famine years was, with the parish priest and leading residents of the locality, most energetic in distributing relief to the stricken poor.

Later on he was curate of Yoxford (Suffolk), Ballinalough (County Roscommon), and Rector of Balbriggan (County Dublin). He was admitted to the United Diocese of Limerick, Ardfert and Aghadoe in 1862, when he became Rector of St. Lawrence, Holy Trinity, in this city, and for 37 years held that office. Then in 1899, on the election to the Bishopric of the Dean of the diocese, Dr. Bunbury, the Rev. Canon Gregg was appointed to the Deanery and Rectorship of St. Mary's Cathedral, which he has held down to the present.

Dean Gregg, who was the oldest surviving clergyman in this diocese, was characteristic while his health permitted for the zeal and untiring energy with which he discharged the duties of his sacred office. The members of his flock, rich and poor alike, he knew individually and well, and never failed to give his good offices and assistance whenever the weak and the humble required them. A constant visitor to their homes, he was deeply respected and esteemed, and in short the affairs of his parish were ever before the mind of one who was devotedly attached to duty. In educational work the Dean has taken a most prominent part. As Secretary of the Diocesan Board, he constantly urged at the Diocesan Synod, in his own impressive and forcible style the value of the work and the support that it deserved from the church people of the diocese. In the cause of temperance he was also a staunch and earnest advocate. In many other works his untiring ability and zeal were evident. He carried on single handed for a long span of years the work of the orphan girls school at Roxboro' Road, and the Orphan Boys' Institution at Pery street, and almost up to the last took an active and sympathetic interest in their welfare.

Dean Gregg had the distinction of representing his Diocese in St. Patrick's Cathedral since 1883. During his long career he had held various Diocesan offices. He became Prebendary of Ballycane in 1877, was a member of the Diocesan Synod, one of the two Clerical Diocesan Nominators, a member of the Diocesan Court, Secretary for Home Missions, and, as already stated, Secretary of the Board of Education. He was also one of the oldest Diocesan representatives to the General Synod, and a member of the Representative Body. His outside offices included the Chaplaincy of the Limerick Male Prison, which he resigned some years ago.

The Dean was a man of wide scholastic attainments, and a deeply earnest and impressive preacher, and was strongly identified with evangelical views. His demise will be received with extreme regret at the passing away of an old and familiar personality. The Limerick Clerical Society, who were holding one of their usual meetings at the time the sad tidings were received, passed the following resolution:—"Resolved—That the Limerick Clerical Society have just heard with great sorrow of the death of the Very Rev. Dean Gregg after his long and faithful service in the Diocese, and desire to record their sense of his loss and their deep sympathy with his family.

The funeral will leave the Deanery, Corbally, at 11 o'clock on Friday, and the interment will take place in the family grave at the Cathedral.

Dr. Wynne's lecture at the P.Y.M.A. next Friday is postponed on account of the death of the Dean.

REVOLT IN RUSSIA.

Czar Decides to Yield.

The "Daily Telegraph" says:—In a telegram sent off from St. Petersburg late last night our special correspondent says he is informed that the Czar has decided to yield to the popular demands, and has

1. Accepted the Liberal programme.
2. Appointed Count Witte Premier.
3. Resolved to grant to the Representative Assembly a fully representative character.
4. An Imperial manifesto is expected to-day, presumably based on those lines.

This news was brought from Peterhof to the capital—a distance of about twenty miles—by steamer.

The Tottering Throne.

The Czar is stated to have received disastrous news from the provinces, and on its receipt commanded all the Ministers to Peterhof. Many towns have, already proclaimed the fall of the present regime, and the troops in the smaller villages and towns have joined the people.

Republic to be Proclaimed.

The Revolutionary Committee of St. Petersburg, which has established itself at the Technical Institute, has placarded the city, proclaiming the downfall of the Government. To-morrow it will publish a manifesto proclaiming a republic.

Count Witte's Failure.

Count Witte, adds the "Temps," has abandoned all hope of forming a Liberal Ministry, for not a single member of the reform party will take office in it. The Czar, moreover, can no longer count on the fidelity of the army.

Provisional Government Formed.

A Reuter's St. Petersburg telegram, timed Monday 3 a.m., says—Fifty students and a lecturer at the Technological Institute here have constituted what they call a Provisional Government. The building is surrounded by infantry and cavalry who bar all approach to it from the neighbouring streets, and are dispersing assemblages and holding ambulances in readiness.

Reported War Move in Germany.

The Odessa correspondent of the "Standard" says:—A report, which hitherto lacks confirmation, has reached the military staff here that Germany is moving 160,000 troops close to the frontier.

Theatre in Flames—Serious Encounters.

The theatre at Reval is in flames. Reval, later.

During the night there were several collisions with the police and troops. Eight persons are stated to have been killed and forty wounded in the encounters. Crowds, armed with rifles and revolvers, prevented the fire brigade from extinguishing the fire at the theatre, which has proved to be due to an act of incendiarism.

Railway Strike Ended.

(By Telegraph To-day.) St. Petersburg, Tuesday.

The strike has ended on the Moscow, St. Petersburg, and the Moscow Kazan and Moscow Archangel Railways. The manifesto has everywhere created the best impression.

"Thinking Russia's" Opinion.

Count Witte's report to the Czar, which his Majesty directed should be taken as a guide, stated that the Russian agitation was due to the desire of thinking Russia to obtain civil liberty, and this should be realised by the introduction of an elective element in the Government and the withdrawal of repressive measures.

Another Strike Declared.

A general strike has been declared at Helsingfors and also at Viborg.

Markets Buoyant.

The London Stock Markets are buoyant today on the news from Russia. Consols have risen a quarter to 8 11-16 for the December account, and Russian fours have advanced two to 91.

CO. LIMERICK HOUNDS.

First Day Run and Kill.

The opening meet of the Limerick County Hounds for the season took place yesterday at Roxboro', there being present a fairly large field, all were hospitably entertained by Mrs. and Mr. Shaw. The Master was punctual to time, the hounds looking in perfect condition. Having given a quarter of an hour's law, we trotted off to the first draw at Cahirnarary, where the hounds quickly engaged a good fox breaking away on the south side. It however received no attention from the hounds, who were busy with another in the gorse, which was forced away at the lower end of the gorse on to the Limerick road, and carried us on towards the old church. Then from the right hand he carried us in the direction of Ballyneety, but long before reaching that point, having failed to get protection in a sewer—which was properly stopped—he left and carried us towards Parsonstown bog, and over the old road to the Isoher road and on to Cooley lanes, leaving here he carried us back in the direct line to the old church at Cahirnarary where the hounds ran in and killed him, getting blood on the first day, and the party being lucky enough to get a kill on the opening day. Our next draw was at Friarstown which proved tenantless. We went on to Mr. Gavin's favourite cover at Kilpeacon, which immediately responded, and we were again unlucky in the hounds being engaged with a fox in the cover. However, we went back in a straight line in the direction of Redmore, and after some little persuasion the hounds got away, the fox taking the course towards Rockfield, but wheeling to the right he made for Ballyregan. From there he was hunted towards Jockey Hall, reaching the breeding earth he wheeled to the left and carried us to Ballycane. After some delay there, we hunted him through, but owing to the darkness the hounds had to be whipped in, thus ending a very good day.

Amongst those out were—Mr. J. O'Grady, Delmege, Captain White, Mr. A. E. Bannatyne, Mrs. C. Conyers, Colonel Sitwell, and officers of 15th Fusiliers, Major Hammond, and officers of the R.F.A., Mrs. W. F. McDonnell, Mr. T. Lloyd, Mr. G. S. Finch, Mr. Hugh Finch, Miss McDonald and Miss F. McDonald, Captain Maxwell, Captain Collis, Mr. S. O'Mara and Miss O'Mara, Mr. A. MacNamara, Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Malcolm Shaw, Mr. J. F. Power, Mrs. White, Mr. MacDonagh, Sir Augustine Warne, Miss Lever, Miss Rahilly, Major Burns Lindow, Miss Walker Leigh, Mr. Travers, Mr. J. Goodbody, Mr. Hartigan, Mr. L. O'Brien Canning, V.S. and several others.

FORTHCOMING SALE OF COACHING HORSES.

We desire to draw attention to the important sale of the above to be held in Cork on Saturday next, when about 37 horses, the property of Tourist Development (Ireland), Ltd. will be offered for sale at Mr. T. A. O'Connell's Horse Repository. These horses, which are all of a superior type, have been regularly driven during the past season over the Company's routes in the South of Ireland, and are now in perfect hard-fed condition. There are a number of well-matched carriage pairs, and many horses which promise to make really high-class hunters. The horses will be on view at the Repository on the day previous to the sale, and will be sold under the certificate of an eminent Veterinary Surgeon.
