

of newpallas, which was 300 yards. He did not know if they went to practice occasionally. Witness en insulted several times, and was called "super." He was a Protestant—the offence was worse now than ever it was.

Constable Doherty said there was no doubt that Lane was very unpopular in the locality, but he could dispose of his farm elsewhere. He gets labour for his farm, but not in the locality. Witness's opinion was that Lane was burnt on behalf of the applicant. In answer to Mr. Kelly, the witness said Lane was a crimeless, harmless man. In reply to Mr. Leahy, the Head Constable did not think the band came out for the purpose of insulting the man.

Honor—What event was there in our local history to bring out the band the night Lane was dead?

Witness—It comes out periodically to entertain the applicant, in answer to his Honor, said he had no objection to the property being let to the Erasmus Smith Schools. He said the former tenant had been evicted for non-payment of rent.

Leahy said that was not so. The bank had a mortgage on the place for £1,600 or Honor said that therefore it was not a question of landlord and tenant in the ordinary sense. A man should not be subject to annoyance because he has a little of evidence that Lane was burnt or that it was burnt by some one else's interest. He believed that Lane was subject to persecution. His Honor believed that they let bye-gones be bye-gones this year would not assume a proper attitude of leniency. In every country in the world, but in such things were forgotten. Having regard to the evidence in the case, His Honor did believe the band played to insult the memory of Lane's dead son. He had never heard of a more horrible story than that connected with the funeral of the boy.

The witnesses were examined on behalf of the Council on the question of value.

Honor granted 30 guineas compensation in expenses, to be levied off the parish. He warned people in the parish to let it be known because the law of conspiracy still existed, and men who did such things as they did in a good many cases had to smart heavily.

NO SETTLEMENT.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

A special Committee of the Rounds Urban Council have failed to bring about a settlement of a dispute between the Army boot contractors and the strikers, the former having declined to do so.

OTHER TERRIFIC FIRE AT SWANSEA.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Over a thousand pounds damage was done at a wool and skin merchant's at Swansea this morning, the extensive factory buildings being destroyed.

ALL FROM A SCAFFOLD.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Two men named Hemsley and Burt fell from latter. It would be a most extraordinary thing that this man should burn his own hay at a time he most wanted it, in the hope of getting compensation, perhaps some eighteen months afterwards. His Honor did not at all censure the police for the view they had taken of the case.

Evidence as to value having been given,

His Honor awarded £50 compensation, with £2 10s. expenses and costs, the amount to be levied off the county at large, his Honor believing that the people of the locality were in no way hostile to the applicant.

BISHOP OF CASHEL UNWELL.

It is to be regretted that owing to his having caught a severe cold the Bishop of Cashel's sermon, which was to be preached in St. Michael's Church on Sunday, has been postponed. The offertory on Sunday will be for the Church Temperance Society.

FUNERAL OF MRS. C. K. KEANE, NEWCASTLE WEST.

The death of Mrs. C. K. Keane, Newcastle West, a lady highly esteemed and respected, evoked feelings of universal regret, for by all classes of the community she was respected and held in sincere regard. Her amiable, gentle, and pleasing disposition endeared her to hosts of friends, and her tender sympathy and kindly benevolence was ever extended to those in need, without ostentation, being moved solely by charity and love, which were the characteristic traits of her life. Blessed with the length of years—she had reached her 96th year—and was enjoying full possession of her faculties to the end. Full of anecdote and story she possessed a clear memory and vivid recollection of the historic events of the early part of the last century. She was twenty years of age at the period of Emancipation, and had many interesting recitals of O'Connell in those days, and through the Repeal agitation when he visited this town, and of the more excitable times of Smith O'Brien and '48. She was mother of the Rev. M. Keane, Superior Industrial Schools, Galway, and aunt of Rev. J. P. Kenny, Superior Christian Schools, Kells. The interment took place at the family vault, Killeedy, the cortege being the largest in the locality for many years. Very sincere sympathy is extended to the Rev. M. Keane and other members of the family in their bereavement.

The chief mourners were—Rev. M. Keane, Superior Industrial Schools, Galway (son); Rev. J. P. Kenny, Superior Christian Schools, Kells, Thos. Kenny, D.C. (nephews); Mrs. H. K. Sheehy, Newcastle West, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Cooleygorman, Miss Margaret Kenny, Asuford (nieces); Raymond K. Sheehy, Hotel Munster (grandnephew); the Misses Evelyn, Kathleen, Tessie, and Bess Sheehy (grandnieces); Mrs. Wm. Hanley.

The clergy present were—Right Rev. Monsignor Hallinan, Rev. Fr. Reeves, and Rev. Fr. McNamara.

"THE CINGALEE" CASE.

Heavy Damages

VERY LIKELY

(From our own Correspondent)

At the meeting of the Enniscorthy yesterday, a member Mr. O'Connell said that they ought to petition the labourers cottages of the tenants. The clerk said they had written to the Councils of Ireland with them.

THE COUNTY IN

Matron and Mrs

In connection with a letter from O'Brien, South Hill, to the Committee, in the month of October to the iodiform incident, and consequently the subject of the Committee of the Institution understood, been served on a suit of Miss Mayne, the Matron.

EMBEZZLING

(By Telegraph To-day.)

At Bow Street to-day, James alias Carlo Bertoli, bank cashier, was charged with embezzling £5,000 from the Fiume Comptroller and was arrested at Glasgow.

SEVEN FISHERMEN

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Information reached Leitrim of the drowning of seven fishermen through the capsizing of a boat in a recent storm.

IN MEMORY

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Earl Roberts to-day opened a concert hall at Uppingham, Northamptonshire, in memory of his father who died in South African War. A memorial tablet.

THE CHANNEL

(By Telegraph To-day.)

Admiral Barlow's division of the Fleet arrived off Greenock to-day.

OUTSIDE OPINION

* * * TO CORRESPONDENTS: We do not guarantee to insert communications unless they are sent in on the previous day, Wednesdays, and Fridays. This column being open to all, we do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents.

THE REDUCTION OF STABULARY FEES

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK