

They look in the congregation
 Like lillies among the wheat;
 And I think that the tender Master
 Whose mercies are ever new,
 Has a special benediction
 For dear little heads in the pew.

When they hear "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Or "Suffer the babes to come,"
 They are glad that the loving Jesus
 Has given the lamb a home—
 A place of their own with His people.
 He cares for me and for you,
 But close in his arms He gathers
 The dear little heads in the pew.

So I love in the great assembly
 On the Sabbath morn to see,
 The dear little children clustered;
 And worshipping there with me;
 For I know that my precious Saviour,
 Whose mercies are ever new,
 Has a special benediction

For the dear little heads in the pew.
 —MRS. M. E. SANGSTER.

DEATH OF MR. MARTIN MAGUIRE.

We record with very sincere regret the death of an old and highly-esteemed citizen, Mr. Martin Maguire, who passed away at his residence, George street, at an early hour on Good Friday morning. Mr. Maguire had been but a week or so ill, and his demise has come as a great shock to a wide circle of friends. Early in life he built up a most successful business for himself in the corn trade, and several years ago he also acquired the extensive salt and fish business carried on by the late Mr. J. R. Tinsly. The deceased gentleman was a member of the old Corporation, perhaps twenty years ago, but since then has taken little or no part in public affairs. He was of a very retiring, kindly and charitable disposition, and was a member of an old Limerick family, St. John's Parish being his birthplace. Deep sympathy is expressed with Mrs. Maguire and family in their keen sorrow.

WHERE TABBIE GOT HER NAME.

We have been accustomed to look on the tabby cat as quite an ordinary thing. Its very name is a synonym for commonness, and yet if the authorities are to be believed, "tabby" is a word which we have derived from a very romantic source. Long years ago, in the days before even the adventures so graphically related in the Arabian Nights Entertainments, there lived in the neighbour hood of Bagdad a certain Prince Attar, who, forestalling the princelings of to-day, became the head of a large business, and this large business was the manufacture of a special kind of watered silk, costly, and therefore much sought after by the incroyables of the day. His business grew, so that at last the quarter of Bagdad where the silk was manufactured came to be called Attar, and the silk took its name from him also. Anyway, it is quite certain, to come down to later days, that Pepys, when he wrote of his "false tabby waste-coate with gold lace" had not in his mind an imitation catskin garment, nor had Herrick the feline tribe in his mind when he wrote "Let
