AFTER MANY DAYS.

Richard J. Staacpole, of Ennis, had Thomas Fitzgerald, of Tulla, summoned at Kilkee Petty Sessions as follows:—"Possession of part of the lands of Tulla with the appurtenance held from complainant as caretaker under the provisions of the Land Law (Ireland) Act, 1887." Mr.
Killeen, solicitor, argued for the tenant and gave satisfactory evidence that the landlord accepted a half-year's rent, giving a receipt for same in 1904, when Fitzgerald was supposed to a caretaker. The ejectment decree on which Mr Cullinan was proceeding, had been obtained for rent due in 1902. The magistrates were unanimous in dismissing the case without prejudice.
