

A rich bachelor has made a poor husband.
 The man of small sorrows is usually most success takes all the credit to itself; failure blames others.
 It is never safe to judge a woman's thoughts by what she says.
 A girl doesn't return a fellow's love when she has no use for it.
 A woman buys her hats and her shoes to suit her own ends.
 A man laughs at locksmiths, but it's different with goldsmiths.
 A woman can guess a thing right quicker than
 a man can reason it.
 Men seldom hear any good of themselves, or anybody else.
 The best way to shape the careers of some young men is with a club.
 Many men want the earth that there isn't enough to go round.
 The finest sermon is the one that exactly fits
 the case of the other fellow.
 The nicest compliment to a woman is to tell her she isn't one that fits her.
 A father, what is a nobody? "A nobody is a prominent woman's husband."
 A man who thinks he is a wit should talk in a phonograph—and then be made to listen to it.
 "Did the captain lose his head during the football game?" "Geez: No, only an ear."
 "Mr. Heepeck, how's the cold?" "Very cold." "How's the wife?" "About the age of sixteen always wants to do the things I'll never let her daughter do when she has
 that age."
 Colonel: "I fancy your wife lost her term-day." Smith: "Not a bit of it. She has a chaustible supply."
 "Your milk is reliable?" "Yes, indeed!
 I hear that he even sterilises the water before he adulterates the milk."
 A Composer: "Children, pray make less noise. If you must kick up such a truly horrible racket, give a song to know the spot Oir her to die on." "Why?" "Because you believe in marrying for money?"
 "A general rule—unless you can't get it by any other means."
 "Are the Billingtons home from their vacation?" He: "I judge so. He's several in neckties again."
 "Oh, the gout is nothing, uncle. I would if I had it." Uncle: "I would, either, if you had it."
 "Would you like to communicate with the spirit of your late wife?" "Widower
 "No, no. Best to leave well alone."
 "Well, I don't know exactly. But I never has to stand up in a tram-car."
 "My son, every time you are naughty
 I beard a hair." "Oh, pa, how naughty you becom! Look at grandpa. He hasn't a hair."
 "What are you and young Short-cut to live on in case you marry?" His father: "Well, if you must know, papa, look at me."
 "Mamma, what is a cursory look?" "It is the kind of look father gives when he wants to swear."
 "I saw the doctor to-day. He says my tongue is red." Wife: "Did you say that?" Husband: "No; but how you've changed. Alphonse. Because married, you used to say you were certain of it." Alphonse:
 "Please have you a sheep's head." Butcher: "No, my dear;
 it won't do."
 "Little Girl, it
 is a sheep's head with horns on it."

The Label is square by a broad line, and at the bottom in small black print, "REGISTERED AT STATIONERS' HALL," the whole printed in gold, the Corks in such bottle are branded "JAS. Their Cases are marked "JAS. HENNESSY," "COGNAC," with the above Trade Mark over the name.
