PRIZE DAY AT LAUREL HILL

DR. O'DWYER'S ADDRESS.

To-day was Prize Day at Laurel Hill Convent Schools. At 12 o'clock a number of clergy, including the Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer, and the parents and friends of the pupils, attended at the schools, where prior to the distribution of the prizes by the Bishop, a bright programme of musical items and dramatic sketch was given by the children.

His Lordship, having congratulated the children on the excellence of their work, referred at length to two educational topics, the proposal of the Department of Agriculture to secularise schools immediately under the control of local authorities, and the Education Bill which he denounced, and anticipated that it would never become law.

TO OUR READERS.

We regret that pressure on our space compels us to hold over several local and district items which will be given in our next issue.

IRISH BAGPIPES IN COURT

At the adjourned Quarter Sessions yesterday, before his Honor Judge Adams Messrs. Pigott and Co., George-street, through Mr. Walter Cooke, manager, summoned John Mangan for the recovery of a set of Irish pipes. The pipes had been sold for £10, on the hire-purchase system, to Wm. Donnelly, who, at his death, had paid only one instalment of £1 13s 4d. The pipes had passed into Mangan's possession, and he declared that he had paid Donnelly £4 10s, and he did not know they were on the hire system. Mr. Cooke consented to refund the £4 10s, and on this condition the pipes were returned to him.

THE MAINTENANCE OF A HORSE.

At the Quarter Sessions yesterday Patrick O'Grady, of Croom sued Mr. Michael Harty, of Alston House, for four months' maintenance of the racehorse Cherry Rhu. He was given a decree for £8.

THE LATE CONSTABLE CULLINAN.

The adjourned inquest on the late Constable Peter Cullinan, Croom, who met his death suddenly and under strange circumstances on Tuesday, at Ballincurra, was held yesterday, when the medical evidence negatived any suspicion of poison, and a verdict of death from natural causes was returned.

THE CHURCH

THE CHURCH LADS' BRIGADE.

The chaplains of the four Limerick companies have offered two prizes for original essays on "The Ideals of the Church Lads' Brigade, and how to obtain them." Rules of competition—First prize (10s), open to all officers (exclusive of assistant chaplains) and Lads; second prize (6s) open to Lads only being members of one of the Limerick companies. Essays to be written on one side of foolscap paper, to be signed with a motto or letter, and sent in (together with a closed envelope containing the writer's name and address, and bearing outside the same motto or letter) to Ven. Archdeacon Wynne, D.D., St. Michael's Rectory, between the 15th and 20th of August, or to Mr. J. Boyd, St. Michael's Schools.
