THE CONSTABLE'S CHASE AND THE DISOWNED DOG.
 (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT).

At Bruff Petty Sessions on Wednesday, Constable Canny had Margaret Carmody summoned for keeping a dog without a license. The constable caused some amusement by describing the manner in which he found the owner. He saw the dog at William Carmody's door, who said it was not his. He then chased the dog and it ran to Margaret Canny's house. Margaret Carmody said the dog did not belong to her. He again chased the dog and it again went to Margaret Carmody's house. Mrs. Carmody's son appeared on behalf of his mother and said they had the dog about a week. Fined and ordered to take out a licence.

An important discovery has recently been made in connection with food. The most nutritious and least expensive is currant bread. The King's physician recommends it, and would like to see it on the table in this country at every meal. Currant bread should be cut in thin slices to obtain the full nutriment and flavour. Leading bakers will supply White or Hovis currant bread.

EXTREME NERVOUS WEAKNESS AND ST. VITUS' DANCE CURED BY VENO'S SEAWEED TONIC.

Mr. E. Jackson, 23 Edward street, off Penny Lane, Northwich, writes:—"You will think it very unkind of me not letting you know about my daughter. We owe you many thanks for the good you have done her; I can assure you it has been a great blessing to me and the family. She is the joy of our home, as red as a rose, and in the best of health. I can truly say she is entirely cured of the extreme nervous weakness and there is now no trace of the St. Vitus' dance; and all this has been accomplished by Veno's Seaweed Tonic.

Veno's Seaweed Tonic strengthens the body and nerves, cures indigestion, wind, sluggish liver, weak and painful back, dizziness, headache, kidney troubles, dropsy and female weakness, and is especially good for chronic constipation. Price 1s. 1½d and 2s. 9d., at Chemists everywhere.

THE LATE MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT).

The remains of the late Mr. Daniel O'Connell, cattle dealer, whose unexpected demise at the comparatively early age of 61 years took place on Wednesday morning at his late residence, Ballingarry, enclosed in a massive oak coffin were on Thursday conveyed to the parish R.C. Church, and placed on a catafalque in front of the Sacred Heart Altar, awaiting interment. Though early a large concourse of sympathisers was present in the sacred edifice, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McCary, C.C. The sad event has cast a gloom over the entire district where the deceased enjoyed the highest esteem and popularity.

STRENGTH.
 Exceptional BICYCLE STRENGTH more often than not means additional weight, but not so with the "ROYAL ENFIELD (BIRDER TYPE)."
 Have you ever 5% more strength than in the standard diamond pattern, while it is just as light, and the rigidity resulting totally answers the common fault of "whiff seat."
