PICTURES.

What ought to be a most interesting show comes to the Athenæum next week, when the National Animated Picture Company will present a fine selection from 10,000 triumphs in animated photography. The programme shows that the pictures cover a very wide range, educational, humorous and magical, concluding the first part with the pantomime of Aladdin. Interspersed with this first part will be musical sketches and songs by Mr. Jack Monks, brother of the celebrated Victoria Monks, and the popular humorist Toddie Forde. The second part of the programme is wholly sacred, and will depict the "Life of Christ" in a series of pictures which are in the main reproductions of the celebrated Ober-Amergau Passion Play with additions. It should be said that this is the first time the set of pictures has come to Limerick, and that last week at Wexford it was received with enthusiasm, the rulers of the local Confraternities ordering special performances for their members, while next Sunday night a special exhibition is to be given by request to the Confraternities at Tramore. Full particulars are given in an advertisement to-day.

POEMS BY A WEST BRITON

The Rev. R. Ross Lewin, the writer of "Poems by a West Briton" which has already secured a great popularity, has received a letter of warm commendation from Rudyard Kipling, and another from Mr. Percy Graves, the latter promising to bring the book before the notice of the Irish Literary Society.

FESTIVITIES AT ADARE MANOR

Great festivities are to take place at Adare Manor during the Christmas season in honour of the betrothal of Lady Aileen Wyndham Quin, only daughter of Lord and Lady Dunraven, to Lord Ardee, Lord Meath's heir.
 Lady Dunraven has issued invitations for a grand ball at Adare Manor on December 31st.
 The wedding will take place in London early in February.

LAND COMMISSION.

Mr. Commissioner Fitzgerald, K.C., with Mr.
 Caldwell, Assessor, has been for the past few days engaged in hearing fair rent appeals at the County Court-house. The sitting is likely to last till to-morrow.

SUDDEN DEATH.

It is stated that Mr. William Noonan, aged 65 years, residing at Gurtzen, Feenagh, did this morning very suddenly at a house on an outside farm at Ballyguile, where some of his children lived. On yesterday (Wednesday) he was at Ballingary and appeared in his usual robust health. His death is much regretted

The "New York Herald" says the Dowager Queen of the Netherlands was nearly suffocated by fumes from a stove while sleeping at Loo Palace. Her Majesty was unconscious when discovered.

Evening Art Classes.
 The Woodwork and Building Construc-Classes (Mr. Redmond, teacher), exhibivariety of very interesting work from the mentary to the most advanced. There are models and excellent drawings in stages 1, 2 3 in building construction, and we not samples of Irish marble from the Irish Ma-Company, Kilkenny.

The Christian Brothers Day Technical Set Sexton street, and Manual Training Scho-a large section in itself. Here we have wood-plain and ornamental, and in various des-such as brackets, variegated panels, or name foliage, etc.

The pupils in the Plumbing Class (Mr. Ni-teacher) exhibit durable; sanitary work various kinds in lead, and an ingenious pie-workmanship is a model of an ink bottle, wis jointless and has been worked out of flat slead. Diagrams and drawings used in the care also on view.

Painters and Decorators work (Mr. Fitzgibteacher) includes panels which illustrate courses they undergo before the final coat put on and there are also specimens of letterinstencil work. All these are of very high mar-On the platform are the exhibits of Limerick Art Craft Class (Mr. E. G. G. teacher). These comprise artistic panel handsome bookcase, modelling in wood curand some beautiful specimens of stained window screens, Mr. E. Clarke being am-the contributors to the latter.

At the lower end of the room, Miss McMateacher of millinery and dressmaking, has a containing plain and fancy goods made by pupils and also at St. Ita's House.

MR. T. W. RUSSELL TO DISTRIBUTE THE PRIZES.

The prizes will be distributed to the stud-at the Athenæum this evening, at 8 o'clock Mr. T. W. Russell, M.P., Vice-President of Department of Agriculture and Tech-Instruction. The Mayor will preside.
