The evidence was that the goods were received by defendant's barmaid, who signed for them. The amount was never repudiated until last November.

For the defence it was stated that the order was booked by the plaintiff's town traveller, Mr. Dempsey, without the knowledge of defendant or his wife. He (Mr. Bourke) had given instructions that any goods sent by Mr. Dempsey should be returned at once. He had never seen the wines.

His Honor was confident that the wines were consumed in Mr. Bourke's house, and gave a decree for the amount.

NEWSOM V. DONNELLAN.

This was an action instituted by Messrs. Newsom and Co., ironmongers, William street, to recover 15s., the price of a slate borer, lent to Thos. Donnellan, Thomordgate, and, as alleged, not returned.

Philip Rookby, Secretary of Messrs. Newsom, gave evidence to the effect that the instrument was not returned.

Alderman Donnellan swore positively that it was returned after three days. He saw his own man place it in Newsom's cart.

On the suggestion of Mr. Dodd, solicitor for plaintiffs, the case was left stand for the carter to attend.

The Court rose at one o'clock.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY O'SHEA.

Mr. Henry O'Shea died at his residence, 116 George Street, at three o'clock to-day, after an illness of protracted duration, borne with heroic fortitude. The melancholy event will be learned with extreme regret by the citizens of all classes. The deceased gentleman, who was 75 years of age, came to Limerick from Cork in the late fifties, and up to a few years ago practised his profession of portrait painter with success. He was always an ardent Nationalist, and never lost the friendship of Mr. O'Brien. At the split Mr. O'Shea threw in his lot with Mr. Charles Stewart Parnell. When the ranks had been closed up he at once identified himself with the United Irish League, but this was practically in the evening of his life. He was a man of exceptional literary attributes. The deceased gentleman leaves a daughter to mourn his death, and a host of friends to console her in her sorrow.

THE KING.

The King left London this afternoon for Epsom Races.

RAILWAY CO. DECREED.

The Co-operative Wholesale Society, Abington, sued the Great Southern and Western Railway Company at the County Court to-day for compensation in respect of damages to twelve pigs while in transit from Boher to Tralee. His Honor held that the company was liable, and gave a decree for 50s., and expenses 50s.
