IRISH TRADE CASE

In London

Lord Ikerrin, Inspector of the Department of Agriculture, was the principal witness who gave testimony at the resumed hearing in Bow Street Police Court, London, yesterday, of the charge against Marcus and William Pottzker, trading as the Irish Linen Co., for having sold handkerchiefs to which the false trade description, "Irish linen," was applied, and of having sold ties improperly described as "real poplin." The case was further adjourned to the 20th inst.

Mr. Horridge, K.C., M.P., who prosecuted for the Board of Trade, explained that the witness had succeeded to the Earldom of Carrick, but the title was not to be used until after the funeral of the late Earl.

Lord Ikerrin gave formal evidence as to what was done with the handkerchiefs and ties purchased from the defendants before action was taken against them.

In cross-examination by Mr. Newton (for defendants) his lordship said that as the result of inquiries he had found that there were no factories under the name of the Irish Linen Co. at Belfast or Derry.

Questioned as to the alleged false trade description on the poplin, Lord Ikerrin said, that as an ordinary member of the public, he should distinctly take it that poplin described to be manufactured in Ireland by an Irish linen company was Irish poplin.

It is a well known fact throughout the trade that Irish poplin ties invariably have upon them "Irish poplin"—I cannot answer that.

So proud are they in Ireland of it? Well, I don't know.

Mr. Horridge (in re-examination)—What is the national colour of Ireland?

Lord Ikerrin—Green (laughter).

Mr. Newton—There is no cross examination upon that, sir (laughter).

Mr. William Dalton, registrar to the Department of Irish Agriculture, also gave formal evidence.

THE KILRUSH TOWN COUNCIL.

At the monthly meeting of the Urban District Council on Monday evening in the Market House Assembly Room, the Chairman, Mr. Batt Culligan, J.P., presided. The other Councillors present were—Mr. Michael O'Meara, Mr. J. O'Dwyer, Mr. William Carmody.

THE LATE MISS V. M. BOYLE.

The Chairman said the Council had heard with the very deepest sorrow of the heavy affliction that had visited Mr. P. J. Boyle, of the "Kilrush Herald," in the death of his younger daughter, Miss V. M. Boyle, following so quickly on the death of his second son, and he proposed the adjournment of the meeting, without transacting any further business, as a mark of respect to the memory of deceased, and of condolence with the members of the family.

Mr. O'Meara said he would second the vote,
