

one still sitting, one only standing; is usual to discuss all sorts of every conceivable standpoint, can to have set in. Yet the fact that portawomen than ever are active in shooting has, says "Black and used the querists to ask whether heot. It seems to be a highly for it has on more than one occasion ore, and so far opinions seem to be divided. Here and there, especially ing, ladies handle a gun to the entire themselves and to the admiration, rwise, of their male friends.

HAUGHTY SPANIARD.
Spaniard, says the "Throne and intent to grub along as his forefathers ing thought for the morrow. He better than to be left alone with his . Don't talk to him of progress, lopment. He will not thank you for . He prefers to work out his salva-way. What boots it if he is poor; may not have enough to eat, the ow the foreigner who enters within can be as haughty as the wealthiest shows his pride in his gestures, and he manner in which he holds up his ws his cloak over his shoulders.

FRACILITY OF THE CRETANS.
logical inexactitude with which St. d the Cretans, says the "Pall Mall falling of long standing. The poe ble quoted in support of his assertion i, who flourished about 600 B.C. Their a wide—Ovid alludes to "Creta uean makes use of precisely the same hymn to Jove, Callimachus says, are ever there." Polybius refers to ig to do what the proverb declares to ur-Cretan a Cretan." Elsewhere he of a Cretan embassy to Corinth: oke in more exact terms than might tation. The young man was in no oration, but had aracted the admiration of his country.

COURTESY IN LITERATURE.
it was deemed worthy of record that read home from Egypt, while, says ion Ford, the description of the war accounted one of the finest parts of literature. In Greek myth and the qualities ascribed to Centaur and stify sufficiently to the high regard in has ever been held. The name of inseparably coupled with that of t least one Roman Emperor had paid his charger. Who can picture eeping on his armour without seeing lozinante tethered under the dewy he stirring incidents of John Gilpin's y proved that the racing blood of far ancestors was not entirely wanting in descendant.

THE CHURCH.
Bishop of Durham has kindly will be absent from his residence, 11 Cecil Street from August 9th till August 31st. (29 a28)

SOLDIER'S SUDDEN DEATH IN THE CITY.

Private George Evans, 2nd Battalion Royal Munster Fusiliers, was found dead in bed this morning at the New Barracks by one of his comrades. The deceased, who belonged to "B" Company, retired to rest last night in his usual health. He never complained during the night, and this morning failed to appear on duty at the usual hour. One of the Company went to call him and was surprised to find him dead. The sad intelligence was communicated to the officer in charge, and the police, and Coroner were informed of the occurrence. Accordingly an inquest was held this evening by Mr. J. F. Barry, J.P., City Coroner, into the circumstances connected with his death.

District Inspector White and Head Constable Moore conducted the investigation. Evidence was given to show that deceased was a man of 41 years of age, and had eighteen years service in the regiment. He was a man of temperate habits, with a good record.

Surgeon-Colonel J. J. Russell deposed to making an examination of the body, and attributed death to natural causes.

The jury, of which Mr. T. McMahon was foreman, returned a verdict in compliance with the medical testimony, and passed a vote of sympathy with the relatives of deceased, who live in Bixnaw, Co. Kerry.

G.S. AND W.R. EXCURSIONS

The Great Southern and Western Railway Co. announce in our advertisement columns this evening that a special train will leave Limerick for Killarney on Sunday next at 9.40 a.m.; on same day excursion tickets will be issued to Kilkee, via Foynes, by train leaving Limerick at 9 a.m., and a special train will leave Limerick for Tipperary at 11.40 a.m. for hurling final.

DEATH OF MR. R. M. O'HANLON.

His numerous friends in the county and city will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Robert M. O'Hanlon, which occurred on Tuesday night at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. D. F. O'Carroll, manager of the National Bank, Charleville. The deceased gentleman occupied the position of assistant in the County Surveyor's office, George street, during the past four years, and prior to that appointment he practised in England. He was son of the late Dr. O'Hanlon, Rathkeale, a gentleman well-known in the county, and while he served under the County Council, his work was very much appreciated. With his colleagues he was immensely popular, and no one could speak better of the professional capacity of a subordinate than Mr. Horan did of Mr. O'Hanlon.

THE FUNERAL.

The remains were conveyed to Rathkeale by the train which left Cork at seven o'clock, and on arrival at Patrickswell were transferred to the Kerry train from Limerick at 10.20. On the train drawing up in Rathkeale, the coffin was transferred to the hearse, and the funeral, which was of very large proportions, started for St. Mary's Cemetery, the family burial place. Mourners were present from Charleville, Limerick, Rathkeale, and Newcastle West, where the deceased was well known and respected.

At Abbeyfeale Petty Sessions yesterday, before Mr. J. W. Flanagan, R.M., and Mr. Creagh Harnett, District Inspector McCoy summoned the Great Southern and Western Railway Company as carriers, and Mr. L. McKenna as consignee, for a breach of the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, and the Animals Transit and General Order of 1895, by overcrowding a rail wagon or truck on the 7th June last by carrying 45 calves therein from Abbeyfeale to Athlone.

Mr. J. S. Gaffney, Crown Solicitor, appeared to prosecute.

Mr. John Condon, solicitor, represented the Railway Company; and Mr. D. Leahy, solicitor, was for Mr. McKenna.

Witnesses were examined for the prosecution and their evidence was to the effect that there was but two square feet of surface allotted to each calf in the wagon, and that the animals showed symptoms of distress as a result of the overcrowding, and that some had to be specially treated at Athlone.

For the defence it was stated that it was not an unusual thing to carry so large a number of calves in a wagon, that the accommodation was sufficient, and that in such a matter attention had to be given to circumstances which might injure the Abbeyfeale calf fair.

After consulting, Mr. Flanagan said he regretted that the bench could not agree. As far as he was concerned, he had no doubt that an offence was committed, and that it had been proved. Mr. Harnett said he also regretted the disagreement, but whatever suffering the animals endured, he held it was not the result of the overcrowding, but of the long journey the calves had to go. The case was adjourned to September 22nd, and the summons against Mr. McKenna dismissed, the magistrates holding that if any fault had been committed it was by the railway company, and not by the consignee of the calves.

IRISH ASSOCIATION OF MASTER BAKERS.

The Annual Meeting.

The first annual general conference of the Irish Association of Master Bakers was held yesterday at Jury's Hotel, Dublin, the President Mr. George F. Inglis, Belfast, in the chair. The report of the Council referred to the gratifying response given to the Circular which invited the Council to the formation of a national association of master bakers in the four provinces and to justify the hope that the organisation would in time be of advantage to every member. It referred also to local branch associations being formed in Cork, Limerick, and Sligo as a direct result of the organisation. Report proceeded—"Hitherto has the annual Exhibition in London we had no recognised status, such as the English National Association or the Scottish N.A. enjoyed, but as soon as our Irish Association was formed the directors doubled not only the number of classes in the section allotted to Ireland, but have allowed us to manage the section ourselves through our own judges and secretary. The Association undertook to offer in the Irish Section a Challenge Cup, and we are pleased to be able to report that the Cup has been delivered to your Council."

The President moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. J. Hesford (Cork) seconded the adoption of the report, which was passed unanimously.

The Treasurer's financial statement showed a substantial credit balance to be placed forward for the coming year.

Mr. George F. Inglis was, amidst applause, unanimously re-elected President for the coming year.

Vice-Presidents—Sir Joseph Downes and Mr. William Dalton were unanimously elected Honorary Vice-Presidents.

Trustees—Alderman Simcox (Cork), Messrs