THE LORDS AND THE BUDGET.

Speech of Lord Castlereagh.

Addressing his constituents at Maidstone last night, Lord Castlereagh said there was very little doubt that the General Election would take place in a short time. He contended that as no mandate was given to the Liberal Party to introduce the present Socialistic Budget, the Lords would be justified in saying—"We think the people of the country should have an opportunity of deciding whether they approve of the Budget or not."

DEATH OF MR M G DOWLING

We regret to announce the death of Mr Michael G Dowling, which took place this evening at his residence, Patrick street. For some months the deceased had not been in the best of health and within the past week his constitution was seriously impaired. Last evening no hopes were entertained of his recovery, and as stated he passed peacefully away this afternoon. The deceased, who was in his seventy-third year, carried on the business of draper and outfitter in Patrick street for many years, and by his thorough business methods and industry he was rewarded with much success. During the old Corporation he was one of the representatives of the Customhouse Ward in the Council Chamber, where he was esteemed, as he was by his fellow-citizens at large for his probity and rectitude in everything that appertained to the well being of the community.
