

OUT AND ABOUT.

The annual general meeting of the Athlone and ... Club will be held on Sunday evening next, 24th inst., at 7.30 o'clock.

A Dublin correspondent informs a Dublin paper that the cuckoo was heard during the first week of last March in the Knight of Olm's wood.

Mr. Benjamin T. Wright, a churchwarden, whose death has occurred at Fulham, was intimately acquainted with six Bishops of London.

Owing to the very sad death of Mr. Stokes, Mrs. Clive's entertainment in aid of St. Michael's Church Repairs Fund which was fixed for Wednesday, the 20th instant, has been postponed.

The Berlin municipal authorities have decided that all male inmates of the municipal hospitals who are more than eighteen years of age must be addressed "Herr" Patient.

Amongst those who have just passed the License Examination of the Pharmaceutical Society, is Mr. S. Stewart, son of Mr. Joseph Stewart, Chemist, George-street, Limerick.

The adjourned annual general meeting of the Limerick Industrial Association is intended to be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the offices 19 George street.

Mrs. A. Whightman, wife of a Mendlesham Veterinary Surgeon, was crossing the Mid-Suffolk Light Railway near Mendlesham Station, when she was struck by an incoming train, and killed.

Mrs. O'Malley and family wish to thank all those who so kindly sent letters and telegrams of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement. They hope all will accept this acknowledgment, as it would be impossible to reply individually.

A verdict of death from suffocation was returned at an inquest at Tipperary on the body of Patrick Kieley, a labourer, 36, who during an epileptic fit fell into a pool of mud and water at the rear of the premises of Thomas Slater, Spittal, with whom he lodged.

In the Excise branch Mr. J. Sullivan, second class officer, Ennis second district, has been transferred to Galway first district; and Mr. D. O'Donovan, second class officer, Galway first district, has been transferred to Ennis second district.

The Rathkeale Poultry Society—the Very Rev. Father O'Donnell, P.P., V.F., presiding—passed a vote of condolence at its last meeting with Mr. Wm. Sheehan, T.C., on the death of his mother, on the motion of Mr. John Abrabuse, T.C., seconded by Mr. P. T. Liston, solicitor.

Major Bryan Mahon, C.B., commanding the 8th Royal Irish Lancers at Lucknow, has been appointed Colonel in command of the regiment. We cordially congratulate our distinguished and gallant country man upon his well-merited and well won promotion (says the Times Herald).

The North Tipperary Agricultural Committee has passed a resolution requesting the Department to send down an instructor in connection with winter dairying. The Rev. Chairman (Rev. P. Crowe, P.P.), said he had got good opinion on winter dairying, and said it would pay, but the feeding staff should be grown on the farm.

The river level has now considerably fallen, and angling is daily improving upon the preserves above and below the bridge (says the Wexford Gazette). Several gentlemen have arrived at the hotels, and within the past fortnight many salmon have been captured. Five fine salmon have been killed during the past week, the largest weighing 37lb. Mr. Geoffrey caught some of the freshly-run salmon and large baskets of trout were also taken.

THE LATE MRS. AMY GRIFFIN.

The funeral. A general air of sadness pervaded Killeen on Saturday, when the funeral of the above gentle, cultured, warm-hearted, and much esteemed lady took place from her late residence at Killeen Park, Killeen, to the family vault at Killeen Park Cemetery. As a last mark of respect to her memory the remains were first borne on men's shoulders through the streets of the town, she loved so well. The coffin, a massive oak one, was covered with a profusion of wreaths and crosses of natural flowers, and a carriage led to be utilized to carry others; so numerous were the tokens sent by sympathizing friends and relations. At the Parochial Church the remains were received by the Rev. Canon Blood-Smyth, Rector, Killeen, and the Rev. Canon Vance, Rector, Rathronan, Co. Limerick (brother-in-law of the deceased), and after the service—the funeral procession started for Killeen Park.

The chief mourners were—Mr. Thomas R. Griffin (M.H.C., Lisrona), Mr. Richard Griffin (Manager, Provincial Bank, Kanturk), brothers J. Mr. P. H. K. Dobbin (County Surveyor), nephew-in-law; Mr. Marcus Keane, D.L., Mr. Thomas Pilkington, C.E., Mr. Frank Pilkington, solicitor, Mr. Charles O. Keane, Mr. Tweedy, solicitor, Mr. Charles O. Keane, Mr. Tweedy, solicitor.

The clergy present were—Canon Blood-Smyth, Canon Vance, Canon Robert Fitzgerald, P.P., and Rev. James Clancy, C.C.

Amongst the general public were—Messrs. A. M. Harper, R.M., P. C. Hickey, M.D., John Walton, B. John Studdert, M.D.; B. F. MacFarlan (Manager, Provincial Bank), Mr. Burke (Manager National Bank), R. O'Connell, J.P., W. C. Doherty, J.P., W. Studdert, J.P., Charles Glynn, John T. Doherty, John Madigan, John Corry, D.C., Dan Casey, D.C., Sam. Molnerney, D.C., William Kane, Michael Curry, T.C., J. Purtil, Batt. Hennessy, James Leyden, Martin Scannlan, T.C., Michael O'Shaughnessy, T.C., P. Guineane, Pat. Keane, Town Clerk, Thomas Collins, Simon Haugh, James McMahon, D.C., R. F. O'Donnell, Denis Collins, John J. Purtil, William F. Frost, Breton O'Donnell, John Falvey, Geo. Collins, Michael Nolan, John Murray, John Marrinan, N.T., Michael Kane, N.T., Patrick Breen, N.T., Wm. Smith, Frank Devane, Pat. McMahon, M. Whelan, Michael McCreesh, W. Bonfield, S. Harter, S. Carmody, Martin Burns, James Frawley, F. Keane, T. Molnerney, T. Fitzgerald, John Fitzgerald, D.C., Pat. Kelly, Batt. Murphy, M. Sheehan, J. Sheehan, George Pilkington, etc.

DEATH OF MR. G. McELLIGOTT.

The death occurred on Saturday at his residence, Mount Rivers, Listowel, of Mr. Gerald McElligott, at the advanced age of 82. Mr. McElligott, who was one of the best known personalities in the Kingdom of Kerry, was also one of the oldest magistrates in the county, and an old Grand Juror. He was the founder of the firm of McElligott and Son, cattle and property salesmen. He was the first Chairman of the Commissioners of his native township, and at one time took an active part in local matters. As an agriculturist he obtained considerable reputation, especially as an authority on the making of butter, and on two occasions gave evidence in England on behalf of the Irish butter trade at prosecutions.

An official correspondent writes:—The death of Mr. G. McElligott, of Listowel, was heard with sincere regret by the people of Abbeyfeale, amongst whom here there was always only one opinion entertained of him, that of a gentleman of strict probity, whose wide business association was conducted with exceptional ability, with the ease of an extensive experience, and with a singular courtesy and honour—the best remembered of all his excellent qualities. It is not an exaggeration to say that few men of his class so thoroughly enjoyed the confidence and respectful esteem of the public in Kerry and West Limerick.

ENNIS CHURCH.

Four stained glass windows have recently been erected in the above church—two in memory of Rev. J. H. Griffith, D.D., for over twenty-three years Rector of Ennis and Clare Abbey, and two in memory of four of his dearly loved children. These windows are of original and unusual design, portraying incidents taken from the Old Testament. The first three illustrate "The Transfiguration of the Priesthood." The first window contains a large figure of Moses with the Tables of Stone in his hands, upon which the Commandments were written by the finger of God. On the panel beneath, the Ascent of Mount Hor by Moses, Aaron, and Eleazar is illustrated—Aaron to die there in obedience to God's command, and Moses to transfer the office and robes of the High Priest to Eleazar.

In the second window Aaron, the High Priest, is shown with breastplate, and Ephat bearing in his hand the roll of the law, and on the corresponding panel Moses is seen investing Eleazar with the garments of his father.

The third window contains a figure of Eleazar. The panel beneath illustrates the descent of Mount Hor by Moses and Eleazar, the latter being vested in his robes as High Priest.

The fourth window (erected to complete the filling of the chancel window with stained glass), contains a figure of Miriam, and on the corresponding panel is portrayed the most triumphant event in her life. She is seen with a timbrel in her hand leading the women of Israel in that jubilant song of victory after the crossing of the Red Sea; "I will sing unto the Lord for he hath triumphed gloriously."

These windows show the great advance which has been made in stained glass work, and it is impossible to adequately describe their beauty and arrangement of colouring. They were exhibited in London, and much admired, before being sent over from the studio of Willis and Jones, on whom they reflect much credit.

CHARGE OF LARCENY.

At the Police Court yesterday morning, before Mr. E. F. Hickson, R.M., Sergeant Kelly, of William street, brought up in custody John Noonan, a labourer, charged with the larceny of a gold chain and gold plated watch, the property of Mrs. Allan Smith, of Nenagh. Mrs. Smith was in town on Friday and lost or missed the property, and reporting the occurrence to the police, she telegraphed details next day, and Sergeant Kelly ascertained that the chain had been pawned on Friday and half-crown given on it, the watch being tendered the next day, but stopped by the pawnbroker. On the information supplied, Sergeant Kelly arrested the prisoner who was remanded to the petty sessions in custody.

HOCKEY AT THE RINK.

P.Y.M.A. V. Black Watch. Saturday night's was an important match for the Rink Hockey Challenge Cup. It was a splendid game, before a record attendance. With this issue rested who should have the honour of appearing in the final.

DEATH OF MR. WM. L. STOKES.

With the deepest regret we record the very unexpected death of Mr. Wm. L. Stokes, J.P., City High Sheriff, an estimable and deservedly popular citizen, which occurred at his residence, Dereen, Ennis Road, yesterday. To say that the sad news, so sudden and unlooked for, came as a great shock to the city but inadequately conveys the feelings of the community when it was learned that one who was so recently amongst them had passed away. So late as Saturday last Mr. Stokes attended to his business, and left the office in Mulgrave street that evening in a cheerful and bountiful mood. For the past couple of months, however, he had not been in the best of health—recently he has been obliged to forego some public engagements in consequence—and with a view to recuperation was advised to take change of air. This he declined to do, believing that a robust constitution would stand him in good stead, and in the course of time re-habilitate his health. On Sunday he was in the midst of his family circle, chatting and conversing with his wonted affability, and yesterday morning had made arrangements for his customary drive into business. Before partaking of breakfast he was seized with an apoplexy, and medical aid was quickly summoned. When Dr. Fogarty and Laird arrived the patient was unconscious, and a diagnosis of his condition held out no hope of his recovery. He lingered from ten o'clock till twenty minutes to one, when the end came peacefully in the presence of his devoted wife and family, whose great bereavement has aroused the deepest sympathy of the citizens at large.

The deceased gentleman, who was in his sixtieth year, was son of the late Captain Stokes, of Dereen, Listowel, and early in life gave promise of an active career. On leaving school he was sent to business, and so kept the line of his commercial abilities that he was little more than twenty years of age when he was appointed representative of Tipperary, of Messrs. Fowler Brothers, Provision Merchants, Liverpool. His residence in Tipperary brought him into close contact with men of wide and varied commercial experience, who learned to appreciate his ability and zeal, and at the end of three years Mr. Stokes was offered and accepted the position of General Manager of the Co-Operative Wholesale Society at Limerick. It goes without saying that he filled that onerous and responsible position with the utmost ability, efficiency, and courtesy. During the thirty-seven years he had been head of the Society in Limerick, he came prominently before the public, both in business matters and as a promoter of athletic fixtures. Again, he was ever ready to help those in distress, and his many acts of kindness and charity will long be remembered. As a churchman, Mr. Stokes also took a prominent and most useful part. He was a member of the Select Vestry of St. Michael's for very many years, and Rector's Churchwarden. In addition, he filled the office of Parochial Nominating and Diocesan Synodman, and was also a member of the Diocesan Council and Board of Education.

As a public representative, he has left behind him a record of usefulness and zeal for the public weal, which it is but the lot of few to attain. On the inception of the Local Government Act of 1898 Mr. Stokes was returned as one of the representatives of the Market Ward in the County Borough Council, a position which he retained down to the date of his demise. In the administration of municipal affairs he showed a ready grasp of public matters, as indeed he did in the multifarious duties which he was called upon to fulfil outside the Council chamber. He was universally held in the greatest respect, and no matter in what capacity the city needed his services he always gave a ready and generous and whole-hearted response. When he marked his career through life in December, 1908, on the death of St. Thomas H. Cleve, his colleagues in the Council showed their appreciation of Mr. Stokes by placing him first on the list as eligible to hold the exalted office of City High Sheriff, and his installation into that position met with expressions of goodwill and endorsement from those who recommended him for the honour. In the following January the members again renewed their confidence in him by recommending him to the Lord Lieutenant for the same office, as was the case again this year. It is no exaggeration to say that in keeping the office lost none of its dignity, and his long and his advice, an inheritance of a proud and honourable character. Mr. Stokes was also a member of the Technical Education Committee, the Free Library Committee, where he did splendid work, as also of the City District Committee. In him the ratepayers had a trusted and faithful representative on the Harbour Board, while in the Council of the Chamber of Commerce he was a locus in part. He was an old and valued member and Vice-President of the Protestant Young Men's Association, whose interests he always studied, and it may be added that in the Olympic and Gaiety Clubs he took a deep concern; not indeed that all the branches of the Institution had not his kindly and genial sympathy. He was a regular attendant at the annual meetings of the P.Y.M.A., and frequently moved the adoption of the report in his own warm-hearted and graceful manner.

It was, indeed, surprising that a busy man so prominently identified with commercial life could find time to devote himself to the various public offices which he held, but as we have said, Mr. Stokes was ever ready, irrespective of class or creed, to give his hearty support to anything tending to the well-being of the city, and his advice and co-operation were never sought in vain, while in any charitable movement he was ever foremost with his purse, as well as his voice and pen.

In the realm of sport, Mr. Stokes was an interesting personality. He was the doyen of sportsmen in the city, and no fixture was complete without his presence. In his young days he figured in many a hard-fought Rugby match when playing with old Limerick County, and his services in this connection were rewarded by his selection as the Munster team captain. He was an ex-President of the Irish Rugby Union, as well as the Munster Branch of the Union, and one of the trustees of the Munster Cup. He took an interest in rowing and hockey, and in the palmy days of the Limerick Amateur Athletic and Bicycle Club, he did a man's share to uphold its grand traditions as one of the premier clubs in Ireland. In every phase of sport he was always to be found, and when the Horse Show was revived a few years ago he was asked to take a hand in retrieving its prestige. He was also one of the hardest workers in connection with the Munster-Congested Exhibition of 1908.

In no life Mr. Stokes' charm of manner, his urbanity and invarying courtesy, made him extremely popular with a wide circle of friends. His demise is a distinct public loss. We will not trespass on the precincts of the family circle, or refer to the unspicable grief it has caused there. Suffice it to say that the memory of an honoured and most popular citizen will long remain green in the hearts of the people of all classes and creeds, whose sympathies are tendered to his bereaved wife and family in the irreparable loss they have sustained. The city flag has been at half-mast since Mr. Stokes' sad demise.

The funeral will take place from Dereen for St. Mary's Cathedral at half-past ten to-morrow morning.

Resolution of Gas Committee.

At a special meeting of the Gas Committee yesterday, the members were informed by telephone of the sad demise of their dearly respected friend and colleague, Mr. W. L. Stokes, J.P. His death was a great loss to the city, and it was proposed and carried unanimously in silence, "That the meeting be adjourned as a tribute of respect to the memory, and the Secretary be instructed to convey to Mrs. Stokes and family our great sorrow and regret at the demise of a gentleman whom they deservedly held in the greatest respect and esteem."

The members present were—Councillor T. Ryan, Mayor, chairman; Councillor E. J. Long, Councillor John G. O'Brien, William Lloyd, W.

MR. O'BRIEN AND THE CHANCELLOR.

Summary of Mr. Lloyd-George's speech in re-introducing the Budget this evening will appear in our next edition.

Scène in the House.

There was an enormous attendance to hear the views of Mr. Lloyd-George and Mr. Wm. O'Brien on the question of concessions. Both front benches were overcrowded and many members found accommodation in the side galleries. Over the clock sat the Prince of Wales, and near him, among other members of the House of Lords, were the Marquis of Londonderry and Lord Grenfell. In the Diplomatic Gallery were the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the Russian Ambassador, Count Benckendorf, and the Portuguese Minister, Marquis de Soveral.

Mr. Asquith Denies Bargain with Nationalists.

Mr. Asquith, in moving the Budget closure motion, said the Budget proposals which the House would be asked to sanction, were identical with those approved last year. He claimed vindication of the collection of taxes already paid would be added, and amendments introduced making clear that agricultural land would not be affected by the increment duty. The Chancellor, he said, had never been authorised to offer any concessions to the Irish. The stamp duty dealing with the transfer of trust property would be amended, but that was the only change. The guillotine motion was carried by a Government majority of 93.

The disappointing element for Ireland in yesterday's sitting (writes the Irish Times) correspondent writes—The disclosure of the fact that all those substantial concessions on the Budget which had been hoped for, owing to the suggestions of leaders both in the Irish Party and the Independent group could be easily secured, were not forthcoming.

Mr. O'Brien followed the Prime Minister's declaration with regard to the Finance Bill. Describing the proceedings, the Irish Times correspondent writes—The sincerity of his (Mr. O'Brien's) speech was plain. Evidently there was no doubt in Mr. O'Brien's mind that he read the famous letter to Mr. Lloyd-George word for word, and that he would never have mentioned his interview in public but for the prior revelations of Messrs. Redmond, Dillon, and O'Connor. "If there is any gross untruth," he declared, "it is that of his present Irish allies; if there is any breach of confidence, it is theirs, not mine."

Mr. Lloyd-George, wisely perhaps, dwelt more upon the general than the particular aspects of the situation. Ministers must have private interviews with all sorts of people in order to get their business done, but the system could not work unless these interviews were treated as confidential. In the course of the Budget negotiations he had seen cab drivers, tobaccoists, and publicans, but this was the first time he had been "given away." Even if other members had divulged what took place at other interviews, that was no excuse for Mr. O'Brien, and he was surprised that the Unionists should have cheered him when he was making attacks on the honour of a Minister who followed a cheery and humorous. "The honourable member says I talked to him. He talked to me. I rarely get a word in edgeways." As for the famous letter, Mr. O'Brien read him a number of newspaper cuttings and other documents, but he has no recollection of any letter.

Mr. John Redmond, who followed, said that Mr. O'Brien had excused himself by accusing him of similar breaches of confidence, but as a matter of fact in his supposed "disclosures" he had merely mentioned points on which he had been trying to get the Budget amended both last session and this. He had been invited to take part in the negotiations with the Chancellor by the Master of Ribbank, who told him that Mr. Healy was anxious to be taken back into the official party. The Master of Ribbank at once put up to say that this was not an accurate account of what took place. It was he himself who was anxious to heal the breaches in the Nationalist party. Thereupon Mr. Redmond frankly withdrew his statement, and went on to explain why he was going to support the closure. All Budgets were unjust to Ireland, but that injustice could only be remedied by Home Rule. He regarded the abolition of the Lords' veto as equivalent to the passage of Home Rule (an announcement which did not elicit a cheer from the Liberal benches), and that was why he and his followers were going to vote for the motion. But there was no bargain, for no Minister knew of their intention beforehand.

Mr. Balfour briefly dismissed the personal controversy with the remark that he agreed generally with the Chancellor's doctrine as to the necessity of holding private interviews, and also of regarding them as confidential. As to the closure motion, it might have been justifiable if the Government had carried out their original intention of ramming the Budget through at the earliest opportunity, but the "ramming" had resolved itself into a slow process of dexterous diplomacy. The result was not unexpected. The Redmondites were always in the political market. The Government always wanted their votes. When the willing seller and the willing buyer came together something usually happened, but he was surprised that the Government should have sacrificed so much. No man who made the "guarantees" speech of last Wednesday enjoyed making the speech of last Thursday. Mr. Redmond had merely given up the financial interests of his country. The Prime Minister has abandoned the great traditions of his office.

This attack brought Mr. Asquith up in high dudgeon. Speaking of the leave of the House, he declared that there was no bargain or quasi bargain between Ministers and the Nationalists, that his Thursday's speech was settled by the Cabinet, without any reference to Mr. Redmond—and that there was nothing in it inconsistent with what he said at the closing of the session. The gem of the debate, however, was the little speech which Mr. T. M. Healy fired off before the dinner hour. The Nationalists, he declared, were only in Parliament to make bargains, not for themselves, but for their country. His complaint against Mr. Redmond was that he had got no bargain. The Prime Minister had correctly sized him up as a man without an ounce of backbone, and as soon as he put down his foot Mr. Redmond's neck was under it. The least that could have been expected of the master of 70 votes was that he would hold his foolish tongue. But he went up and down the country blathering as if he had got all the concessions Ireland wants in his pocket. And now it seemed he had got nothing but a shabby promise of a kind of Home Rule, under which Ireland would be bankrupted in order that a few puppets might posture in College Green. As for the personal question, it was not unreasonable for Mr. O'Brien to think that if Ireland was being taxed to the tune of two millions extra, he might have £600,000 back for land purchase, and it was rather hard that he should be accused of having committed a breach of confidence when nothing had been said to Messrs. Redmond, Dillon, and O'Connor.

THE BUDGET.

MR. REDMOND'S PARTY SUPPORT IT.

Independent Nationalists Oppose. A meeting of the Irish Nationalist Party was held yesterday at the House of Commons. Mr. John Redmond presiding over the attendance of 65 members. The Party unanimously decided to support the Budget.

Resolution of Gas Committee.

At a special meeting of the Gas Committee yesterday, the members were informed by telephone of the sad demise of their dearly respected friend and colleague, Mr. W. L. Stokes, J.P. His death was a great loss to the city, and it was proposed and carried unanimously in silence, "That the meeting be adjourned as a tribute of respect to the memory, and the Secretary be instructed to convey to Mrs. Stokes and family our great sorrow and regret at the demise of a gentleman whom they deservedly held in the greatest respect and esteem."

STOP PRESS NEWS.

THE FINANCE BILL. The Finance Bill was issued late this afternoon as a White Paper. The clauses relating to increment value duty, and valuating collection of taxes have been altered on the lines announced by the Premier yesterday.

SPORTING.

Curragh Meeting. SCURRY PLATE. Lady Douglas ... 1 Golden Egg ... 2 Lea Podargus ... 3 Betting—6 to 1 Lady Douglas.

STAND PLATE.

Innocency ... 1 Chestnut Hackle ... 2 Flower of the Field ... 3 Also ran—Barcelona Park, America's Pride, Mayfly IV., Day Place. Betting—9 to 1 Chestnut Hackle, 3 to 1 Innocency, 11 to 2 Flower of the Field.

MADRID PLATE.

Algy ... 1 Castle Jewel ... 2 Durham Ranger ... 3 Also ran—Ladkin, Wayang, Set Free, Donna Voski, Royal O'Neill. Betting—5 to 2 Algy, 5 to 1 Castle Jewel.

MAIDEN PLATE.

White Owl ... 1 Insane ... 2 Sister May ... 3 Betting—4 to 1 White Owl.

JUVENILE PLATE.

Sheila ... 1 Alice Soliman ... 2 Parerga ... 3 Betting—5 to 4 Sheila.

EASTER PLATE.

Sir Henry ... 1 Game Fowler ... 2 The Murrugh ... 3 Betting—100 to 14 Sir Henry.

Epsom Meeting.

TATTENHAM PLATE. Falry ... 1 Green ... 2 Arctic Belle ... 3 Also ran—Neptune, Piquet, Shagpat, Velasie, Motor Vell, Trustworthy, Spirited, Licensed, Viaduller, Farley, Arthur, The Dargie, West Riding. Betting—6 to 4 Arctic Belle, 20 to 1 Falry and Garraeven.

PRINCE OF WALES STAKES.

Edward ... 1 Electric Boy ... 2 Also ran—Temnes, Antspur, Seaham, Onko, Ranney, Facet, Captain Symons, Guenon, Waltonian, Ponders. Betting—8 to 1 Electric Boy and Linnur, 10 to 1 Edward.

WESTMINSTER PLATE.

Wise Gift ... 1 Foot Guard ... 2 Waterwillow ... 3 Also ran—Wooden Wedding, Moonlight Melody, Orontes II., Aureban, Don Urbanu, My Prince, Madrola, Martinet, Flora, Lady Drake, Fair Eileen, Zoara, Rity, Breakfast. Betting—11 to 2 agst Wise Gift, 2 to 1 Waterwillow, 5 to 1 Foot Guard.

GREAT METROPOLITAN PLATE.

Lagos ... 1 Claret ... 2 Also ran—Submit, Father Blind, Olivier II., Admiral Top III., Bridge of Eam, Gilie Callum, Laughing Mirror, Altitude, St. Mabyn, Detection, Stormfinch, Black Sea. Betting—100 to 7 Lagos, 100 to 6 Claret, 20 to 1 Relish.

BANSTEAD SELLING PLATE.

Robrinski ... 1 Retrenchment ... 2 Littoral ... 3 Betting—100 to 7 agst winner.

GREAT SURREY HANDICAP.

American Girl ... 1 Syc ... 2 Jack Snipe ... 3 Betting—10 to 1 American Girl.

STOCK LIST.

To-day's Prices. GOVERNMENT STOCK. Consols ... 81 1/2 BANKS. National ... 23 1/2 Munster and Leinster ... 5 1/2 Hibernians ... 6 Provincial ... 30 9-16 Ulster ... 12 1/2 MISCELLANEOUS. Guinness ... 47 1/2 Coats ... 12 1/2 Dunlop Ordn. ... 23s. 9d. Deferred ... 26s. 6d. Camcocks ... 7 Marconis ... 16s. 9d. AMERICANS. Atchinsons ... 117 Canadas ... 187 1/2 Erie ... 31 1/2 Louisville ... 156 Missouri ... 45 Southern Pacific ... 131 Unions ... 19 1/2 Steels ... 88 1/2 SOUTH AFRICANS. Chartered ... 35s. 9d. Goldfields ... 6 1/2 Johnnies ... 16s. Tanganyika ... 6 1/2 RUBBERS. Jequie ... 18s. 9d. Madagascor Pref. ... 22 prem. Val D'ors ... 4s. 6d. Kuala Pahi ... 3s. 0d. Crude Rubber ... 4s. 8d. Oil Trust ... 1s. 9d. prem.

ANOTHER MOTOR ACCIDENT.

Two Persons Killed. Liege, Monday. An automobile containing four persons from Maestricht dashed into a tramway standard to-day. Two of the occupants of the car were killed.—Reuter.

THE PADDOCKS.

Good trade in all sections marked last Saturday.

LATEST.

TO-DAY'S.

(Special to the) STEAMER. The Westall liner DEI ashore at Athfield. Is this morning, but was ... DISABLED LIN QUEEN. The Furness liner ... tail shaft on the very Queenstown to-day is She will be towed by ... CIVIL SEI. Provision 1 Details of the Ve Services and Revenue to-day. It is proposed millions, provision for ... NEW DREADNOU. The new dreadnought sioned at Devonport to battle squares of the ... VERDICT OF MU. At an inquest at Charles Schofield, com Hunter, who were for at the former's residence suicide while tempor against Hunter. Mrs was a little better this ... Y.M.C.A. OI. Mr. W. Hird ... organising secretary died this morning at ... COMMUTATI SENTEN. The Home Secretary advised the King to passed upon Victor school teacher near M commutation to penal ... AUSTRALI. Mr. Dea Melbourne, Tuesday to-day, Mr. Deakin ... Governos-General. LORD KITCHEN. New York, Tuesday terday entertained Toasting Lord Kitch his as the greatest in ... ALBANIAN. Constantinople, Tu Lyab country are Prishtinas are again is reported from Thil ... BRIGAN. St. Petersburg, Tu says—in the fight: Bakhtiari Horsemen fifty brigands were k ... INTERESTING. A S settled by which L sought to establish he given to her by her m Plaintiff's case was th four daughters togeth her jewellery. Her s administrator on her was not of sound t gift was made. Afte suggestions as to Mrs. were withdrawn, and a declaration that the ... IRISH ECI. Heavy At Oxford to-day, t Industrial Society, Lt Irish Agricultural D breach of the Merchan for sale eggs marked which it was contend were not new laid, declared it was on his were so labelled, the h of it. The Bench fin on each of the three of the shop was fined ...

ND NOTIONS.

to adopt an explicit obolial wheat (thinks There is, of course, a sides of the question. dture cannot be fully or be left exposed to when Canada arrives, wheat production, it is British farmer and ence of a breakwater course is to give the he foreigner, and our ver both—which is the other Dominions ountry. The precise must be a matter of the chief thing is to as definite as possible. served by Mr. Balfour's

ND NOTIONS.

is staying at Ottawa in a speech he made heon given by the t that Captain Scott le by December 22 of

ND NOTIONS.

himy of a house at rd's Heath, caused the the mantel-piece to fly 'elfare, the occupier of nation, and discovered sney was smouldering, the outbreak was soon

ND NOTIONS.

OR ENGLAND. of coal have arrived rest Western Railway rtion of a shipment of experiment a few weeks spect of a coal strike. ives between Plymouth were on Friday night ng six lions during the erie at Glasgow. Six sent. A Church of Scot- performed the ceremony, to a communication fromoderator. A minister greed to officiate, and bridegroom entered the a few minutes' ceremony d wife.

ND NOTIONS.

ND NOTIONS.

ILUENZA. His is one of the most s of springtime. This credited by restless power of giving rise to From a scientific point d Press and Circular, rldity. Flowers do not ost delicate invalid may ragrant guardianship f and the rest of the over literally by the at this time of the

ND NOTIONS.

ITALS AT THE EUM. before a very large and arles R. Caffry, who, gave a most enjoyable thomson. The Recital srs. P. McCarthy and ngratulated on their fulness in providing lovers of music, ar invitations in the sical bill of fare. Mr. plauded again and gain great brilliancy and Minor (Racmasinoff), p. 35 (Mendelssohn), (Schubert), Ballade in fajor, op. 62, No. 2, (2) For the Black, Polonaise in A Flat, Sonata Pathetique Tannhauser (Wagner), lar were Ballade in G Notes, Polonaise in Grand March from the recital was a

ND NOTIONS.

ND BEAUTY. nt's Mission. ent is made by Messrs s, Limerick, that Miss orated hygienic corset eg breathing, with ge-ten days. Suggeste, and without any air customers. This consents give rise to licentious many chinson is much in ease," which has the s, and may be seen in out on such strictly convenience can arise al men invariably

ND NOTIONS.

SHOCKING OUTRAGE IN CLARE. Horse's Eyes Torn Out. An outrage of a horrible kind is reported from Ballyvoshen, near Corofin, where a horse belonging to a farmer named McGann, from North Clare, was found with both eyes gouged out. There was considerable loss of blood, and the poor animal is still alive. The land on which it was belonged to a member of the Land Commission staff, and was let on grazing terms to various tenants, some of whom, it is said, had recently received a warning to surrender it. The police are making inquiries.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

While a party of the Royal Engineers were crossing Matthew Bridge this morning one of the horses became restive with the result that both shafts of the wagon on which two sappers were seated snapped and the men thrown on to the roadway. Fortunately, none of the Engineers was injured. The horse attached to the wagon bolted up Patrick street with the leading portion of the broken shafts clinging to the animal's harness, and turned into Ellen street where it was brought to a standstill without being anything the worst for the occurrence.

BARRINGTON'S HOSPITAL.

Yesterday and to-day a number of extern cases were treated at Barrington's Hospital. Two children, Lizzie Brazil and Mary Bourke, were admitted suffering from burns caused by portion

ND BEAUTY.

ent's Mission