ENNIS UNION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

The weekly meeting of the Ennis Board of Guardians was held yesterday. Mr. P. E. Kenneally was in the chair. There were also present—Messrs P. McHugh, P. McInerney, P. O'Leary, James Brennan (Clonmoney), and James O'Grady.

Messrs E. M. Bennett, Clerk; M. J. Carey, Assistant Clerk, and Thomas O'Loghlen, Master, were in attendance.

STATE OF THE HOUSE.

Admitted during the week, 37; died, 3; born, 0; discharged, 32; remaining in the house, 387, at an average cost of 4s 4d; in infirmary, 117, at an average cost of 5s 3d; in fever hospital, 3, at a cost of 6s 8d per head. Cost of stimulants for week, £1 11s 1d; tramps admitted, 7 men, 1 woman.

FAILURE OF WATER SUPPLY.

The Master's Journal contained the following:—

"I have again to report that there was no water supply throughout the workhouse from 2.20 p.m. on the 14th instant until three o'clock on the 16th instant, and I need scarcely point out to the guardians the great inconvenience and danger to the institution this has caused. I would respectfully suggest to the board to make provision for the storage of a supply to cope against such an occurrence as this in the future."

Chairman—The Urban Council are laying the new pipes over to the workhouse.

Master—It is easy to say that, but they were ordered last January. The boilers were not working.

Chairman—The town is in the same way.

Master—The institution is something worse than the town.

Mr. McInerney—The town suffered very much. The Master complained that he had to send down to the river for a supply of water.

Mr. McInerney—More than you had to do that the following day.

Master—As a matter of fact, it is not fit for domestic purposes. You must make some provision for storage.

Mr. McInerney—I suppose the County Infirmary and other places were in the same way.

After further discussion it was decided to adjourn the question for a week.

THE CHILDREN ACT IN GLIN.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Constable Walshe, Glin, arrested an old man, apparently of the tramp class, who was accompanied by a boy of nine years of age, at Kilfergus, a short distance outside Glin, and brought them before a special court.—Dr. McDonnell, chairman, and Mr. Francis Fitzgerald being the justices. The father of the boy stated his name was James Dyce, and it was also the name of the sor, whose mother was dead. He had been looking all over the country for work at his trade of shoemaking, but could find no employment. He had applied at an institution to place his child there but was told he could not be taken in as he had not committed any offence. He would be anxious to put him in a safe place.

Constable Walsh said the boy could be put into an institution under the provisions of the Children Act of 1908, and pointed out he would be maintained and educated there and a chance given to the boy of becoming a useful member of society. The Act provided that children over five years of age should not be allowed to be going round the country without being educated.
