

a purchaser at the weekly market.

Sheridan, of Newbridge, has been declared motor for the erection of a new convent for Sisters of Mercy in Nenagh, and men are at work clearing the ground in the old site, and becoming dotted with useful buildings to the benefit of the children of Nenagh.

An interesting function has been brought off in the Workhouse Boardroom, when Mr. Thorgan, the late Chairman of that Board, was seated with his portrait in oils by members of various bodies with which he has been connected during the forty years he has been working, particularly in the public service. The presentation was made by Mr. Joseph Dwyer, J.P., who has been a member of Roscrea Guardians for thirty years.

Over 100 guests attended a banquet in Chicago in honour of Mr. J. J. Flynn, one of Mayor McGonigal's newly appointed Civil Service Commissioners. A number of public men bore testimony to his ability. Mr. Flynn is a native of Limerick, and was in the Irish Civil Service before proceeding to Chicago, where he graduated in civil engineering in the University. Several times he has been elected to the important position of International Secretary-Treasurer of the Freight-Handlers and Clerks' Union of the United States and Canada.

THE LIMERICK FEIS.

The Limerick Feis, to be held in Limerick on the 10th and 11th prox., promises to be one of the most successful yet held since the revival of the Gaelic literary movement. The number of entries reach a total of 448, and there is a substantial increase in all the classes save two. In the literary class the entries for the coming Feis are 38, as against 25 last year. In the Primary Schools there is an increase to 71, compared with 66 at the previous Feis, while at the Intermediate School's Competition the numbers for the year are 35, 29 entries having been received for the 1910 Feis. In the Recitation and Dialogue classes the figures have gone up from 41 to 78, a remarkable increase as denoting the success of the Gaelic Language Movement. The Rev. P. J. S.J., is to open the Feis, and Mr. P. J. Hanly, Secretary to the Gaelic League, will preside at the open air competitions at the Markets.

SOUTHERN TELEGRAPHS.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Brady asked the Postmaster-General if he could state the number and rank of Royal Engineers at present employed in the Southern and Midland district in constructing and maintaining telegraphs and telephones. Mr. Samuel—The number is 113, and they are divided as follows:—1 major, 5 captains, 2 lieutenants, 1 warrant officer, 4 staff sergeants, 7 sergeants, 11 corporals, 10 second corporals, 12 private corporals, 60 sappers. Mr. Brady asked the Postmaster-General if it was the intention at or subsequent to the transfer of the National Telephone Co.'s system to the State, to use either the Royal Engineers at present employed in the district or additional Royal Engineers to be brought into the service, for carrying out the duties or any of the duties now or to be performed by the company's staff in the Southern (Ireland) district?

Citizen's Plucky Act.

Mr. A. E. Walker, a member of Mr. Alexander Marsh's Shakesperian Company, had a trying experience while bathing in the Shannon. On Saturday afternoon, accompanied by two other members of the Company, and Mr. Harry Fogerty, Assistant Secretary to the Limerick Harbour Commissioners, Mr. Walker, who was but a poor swimmer, went for a dip in the river near the Railway Bridge. All had left the water, but Mr. Walker, who essayed to cross the river. When he got as far as the central span of the bridge, he got into difficulties, and then his plight was noticed by Mr. Fogerty, who divested himself of his garments and plunged in to the rescue. Reaching Mr. Walker he laid hands on him, and after no small exertion succeeded in bringing him ashore. Mr. Walker reached the bank in a collapsed condition, but very soon recovered. The pluck displayed by Mr. Fogerty was certainly very meritorious, and it is hoped that it will be brought under the notice of the authorities.

CITY SUDDEN DEATH.

William Hayes, 56, by occupation a wire worker, died suddenly after leaving his lodgings at Watergate. Yesterday morning prior to three o'clock he left his house and before he had gone very far he collapsed. The people with whom he lodged presuming that something had occurred followed him, and a short distance from the house they found him lying in a pool of blood. The ambulance was promptly summoned, but before the unfortunate man reached Barrington's Hospital death had taken place.

Inquest.

An inquest was held on the remains last evening at Barrington's Hospital by Mr. J. F. Barry, J.P., City Coroner, and a jury, of which Mr. Thomas Dillon was foreman.

Head-Constable Healy, John-street, conducted the investigation.

The first witness examined was Patrick McDonnell, with whom the deceased lodged. He testified to the sudden illness of Hayes, about three o'clock that morning. The man left the house hastily, and was followed by witness, who found him in the laneway in a state of collapse. He was then bleeding profusely, and in consequence of his condition he had him removed to hospital.

Bridget McDonnell, wife of the last witness, gave similar evidence.

Dr. O'Brien, House Surgeon, Barrington's Hospital, attributed death to hemorrhage of the lungs, and the jury returned a verdict accordingly.

BOHERBUOY BAND EXCURSION

The Boherbuoy Band and Workmen's Club held their annual excursion on Sunday, proceeding by a number of brakes as well as numerous "bikes" to Askeaton, Rathkeale, Aclare, etc. The day was beautifully fine, and the arrangements being excellently carried out by the committee, of which Mr. D. Daly, is Secretary, the excursion proved thoroughly enjoyable and successful in every respect. It was joined in by Alderman Prenderyesterday. Mr. Ramsay, the Labour Party would not have premiums, so that Stat should each contribute commented upon the matter in the Bill. The Bill was passed by a majority of the whole House.

PEARL

Charge of At

The trial was begun by Lieutenant Cecil Aylmer Artillery, and Ruby Cameron attempt fraudulently to obtain £6,500 insurance which they said had been put on a lady's neck on an Edinburgh. The prosecution said that two servant girls saw Ruby Cameron at the window, and Ruby occurred. A Lord Justice Goffe gave the opinion that the trial was possible. A witness took morphia to alleviate the pain and adjourned.

To-Day's

(BY TELEGRAPH)

The trial was resumed by Lieutenant Aylmer Cameron charged with fraud, arising out of the necklace.

The prosecuting counsel found in Cameron's flask and addressed to Dear Ruby, neck lace was gifted by supposed writer's dying wish.

Counsel suggested that Ruby produced another series in which passages appeared those of the Walker trial that Mrs. Cameron had written.

NENAGH P

Before Messrs. Alford Hanly, J. Meagher, T.

A LEGAL

Kate Kearney was charged by the Nenagh Guardians. Mr. H. Shannon, who appeared, objected to the case of a solicitor for the Guardians. Mr. J. H. Dudley, of the Bench not to hear of the King's Bench or raised.

The case was marked. The woman was sub-judice for misbehaviour.

TICKET-G

Peter Sweeney, a ticket collector at the Nenagh Races, reports himself. It transpired from an English prison that his life in gaol.

Constable Igoe prosecuted Shannon, solicitor, deposed that District Inspector F. of the man's licence.