FLOODING IN UPPER SHANNON.

Man's Body Found.

The valley of the Shannon is seriously flooded. The body of an old man was recovered from the water at Drum today. A big bogslide is threatened at Carrick. The river is rising.

DEATH OF MR WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

The death took place yesterday at Peamount Institution of Mr William O'Brien, late of Upper William street, and who had been travelling for some time back for the firm of Messrs P & H Egan, Tullamore. Mr O'Brien, who was a member of an old Limerick family, had been in failing health for some weeks past, and his unexpected demise is sincerely regretted by a large circle of friends. The remains will arrive from Tullamore at 2.35 p.m. to-morrow (Sunday), and the funeral will start immediately from the Railway Station for the interment at Mount St Lawrence Cemetery.

SIR FRANK REE'S FUNERAL.

Sympathy from King and Queen.

The funeral of Sir Frank Ree, General Manager of the London and North-Western Railway, took place today at Pinner. There was a large attendance of railway officials from all parts of the country, and the Chairman of the London and North-Western Railway Company and nearly all the directors were present, as also were Sir Sam Fay, of the Great Central Railway, and Sir Guy Grant, of the Midland Railway.
 A message has been sent by the King and Queen expressing condolence with the family.

 Mr Charles E. Cleave, brother of the bridegroom was best man.
 The address was given by the Dean, who also pronounced the Benediction, after which the anthem, "Oh, for the Wings of a Dove (Mendelssohn), was sung while the bridal part had repaired to the Vestry, where the register was signed. Soon afterwards, as the majestic strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March pealed forth from the organ, Mr and Mrs Aylmer Cleave passed down the aisle to the western doorway, and the bells of the Cathedral rang out a merry peal. The guests to the House, where the wedding party took the veil, where the process was of tête-à-tête with sample embroidered sash. She wore grettes. The clock was a tango coloured dunetun trimmed with and a muff to match.
 The wedding cake was supplied by Mes Mitchell, Dublin, who also made the bridegroom's mother's wedding cake. It was of beautiful design, standing several feet high, and worked out with exquisite taste. It was in three tiers: sugar pillars, the pendants being of pansies, the bride's favourite flower, with wreaths of shamrocks, an Irish Harp at the side. It was surmounted by a vase of orange blossom.
 In honour of the wedding a triumphal arch erected at Lansdowne Factory, where there was also a lavish display of hunting. The Union Jack was displayed from the flagstaff, and also from the tower at St. Mary's Cathedral, and at Mr Russell's, Henry Street. The steamers at the docks were gaily bedecked with flags of various hues.
 The following is a list of the presents:—
