LIMERICK LEADER.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1914.

THE IRISH VOLUNTEERS

THE wisdom of the Irish Leader's action regarding the reconstruction of the Provisional Governing Body of the Volunteers is amply justified by the fact that the acceptance of his proposal has already given a great fillip to the Volunteer movement itself as well as adding considerably to the strength and security of the Home Rule position. Mr. REDMOND'S suggestion was that 25 representative men nominated at the instance of the Irish Party be added to the existing self-elected committee so that the country would have full confidence in the central (temporary) authority and would have some security that the new movement would not be conducted in any way that would be a menace or a source of weakness to the cause of Self-Government, which is now on the very verge of complete triumph. That it was absolutely wise and necessary for him in the interests of Ireland to take the steps he took is made manifest by the changed attitude of the Ulster bluffers and the Tory Press regarding the National Volunteers, who were patted on the back and applauded by the Unionist newspapers and orators so long as there was a prospect of the movement being conducted on lines which would deprive the Irish Leader of a potent voice in its government and development. The Irish Volunteers cannot, it is clear, be a body invested with full powers to decide its own general policy in relation to the nation, for if they were it would mean the setting up a military dictatorship instead of a regular civil authority, which must be supreme in any properly-governed country. As the Dublin Leader very wisely remarks, the work of the Volunteers is to produce drilled and equipped soldiers, and once that is done it will rest with the nation to decide what they as soldiers are to do or not to do. When we have Self-Government the Irish Parliament will, of course, govern and direct the National Army. In the absence of such a Parliament Mr. REDMOND and his Party, who are elected to speak and act for Ireland, represent the National will, which must prevail before as well as after Home Rule. In the course of a very interesting and logical letter to the secretary of the Organising Committee of a National Volunteers' Demonstration to be held at Swinford next Sunday, Mr. JOHN DILLON, M.P., showed clearly how necessary as well as how moderate was Mr. REDMOND'S proposals to the Provisional Committee in Dublin. It was, he said, "absolutely essential when Mr. REDMOND decided to advise his friends and supporters to join the Volunteers, and thereby assumed a very large share of responsibility for the movement, that he should take some security that no attempt would be made in the name of the Volunteers to dictate policy to the National Party, and that this great military movement should be conducted on wise and prudent lines, and should not be committed to any course which might wreck the political movement for which he and the Party which he leads are responsible to the Irish people. It was also absolutely necessary to make sure that no attempt should be made to carry on under the cloak of the Volunteer movement a propaganda calculated to discredit and undermine the constitutional movement and the policy and influence of the Irish Party and the Leadership of Mr. REDMOND. It had come to our knowledge that a few individuals connected with the Volunteer movement had for some time been actively engaged in such a propaganda. If this had been allowed to go on it would, of course, very soon have destroyed the Volunteer movement, and in the process of destroying that movement might have inflicted deadly injury on the National cause." Mr. REDMOND, it will thus be seen, has by his action rendered a magnificent service to the Volunteer Movement itself as well as to the Home Rule cause. The Volunteer Movement, in the words of Mr. DILLON, is open to all Irishmen "who desire to serve their country on the basis of Ireland's right to be a free and self-governing nation;" and now that the air is cleared regarding the Provisional Governing Body, it is the manifest duty of every Irish Nationalist to "fall in" with the Volunteers without further delay.

Brilliant Churchman Dead

Very Rev. Canon Murphy Passes Away

Sketch of a Great Career

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY AND REGRET

A truly great and brilliant churchman has passed away in the person of Very Rev. Andrew Canon Murphy, P.P., V.G., St. Munchin's, Limerick, who died yesterday at the parochial residence, North Strand. Canon Murphy had been in indifferent health for some weeks past, but it was only within the last fortnight that his illness took a serious turn, which necessitated the summoning from Dublin of an expert, in the person of Surgeon Blayney, to treat the rev. patient for an ailment from an imperfect circulation. An operation was performed, but it was not attended with the desired result, and Surgeon Blayney was asked to see the patient afresh, which he did on Monday evening last, and a second operation, the amputation of the leg above the knee, was decided on in the hope of saving life. The operation was successfully performed by Surgeon Blayney, who was assisted by Doctors Graham and Devane, with the hope that the life of so brilliant a churchman might be spared. The end, however, came on yesterday. Born in the city some 54 years ago, Canon Murphy got the first rudiments of education at the Christian Brothers' Schools, passing thence to Maynooth College, where his ability and aptitude for learning were noted by the ecclesiastics in authority and the class-fellows who were the associates of the clever young student. He was ordained on October 15th, 1885, his first clerical appointment being that of chaplain to Laurel Hill Convent and he also at that time gave religious instruction at St. Vincent's Schools. In June, 1886, the Lord Bishop, on his accession to the Episcopate, appointed Canon Murphy as his secretary, and in 1888 selected him as one of the Professors of St. Munchin's College. In January, 1894, the deceased clergyman became President of the College and remained in that very important position up to October, 1905, when his Lordship appointed him Administrator in St John's Parish. Since his ordination Canon Murphy had been closely connected with education, being generally recognised as a high educational authority. He was also elected Honorary Secretary to the Catholic Head Master's Association in 1898 and in 1908 he was appointed a Senator in the National University. In November, 1910, when the Very Rev. Dean Shanahan, P.P., V.G., resigned, owing to failing health, the Pastorship of St Munchin's Parish, Dr. O'Dwyer appointed him as his successor. Just a month before that appointment, Canon Murphy, quite unknown to the outer world, celebrated the Silver Jubilee of his priesthood. Through all these changes Father Murphy was the same devoted student and the same devoted worker in Irish educational matters. From its foundation the Irish Educational Review was edited by the late clergyman, who wielded a fluent and persuasive pen. During his illness his Lordship was a constant visitor by the bedside of the patient, and to the last the Bishop, in common with his people, held to the hope that a good priest and a great man might be spared to the diocese and to his people. Canon Murphy was a most useful member of the Limerick Municipal Technical Committee and District Asylum Committee. As a priest, he was an ideal one. He had a kind and sympathetic interest in the flock committed to his charge that endeared him to each and everyone of them in an especial manner. His memory will long abide with them. By his death the Church loses a zealous and brilliant ecclesiastic. His loss will be felt throughout the city and the entire diocese.

Sympathy of Municipal Officers

At a meeting of the Limerick Municipal Officers' Association on yesterday, the Town Clerk, Mr. Wm. M. Nolan, J.P., in the chair, the following resolution was adopted:—Proposed by Mr. John Dundon, seconded by Dr. M'Grath—"Resolved—That we, the members of the Municipal Officers' Association, in special meeting assembled, express our deep sorrow and regret at the sad demise of the Very Rev. Andrew Canon Murphy, P.P., V.G., a distinguished Churchman, an able and learned divine, a man of scholarly attainments and a zealous and devoted priest, whose loss will be felt throughout the city and the entire diocese; and that our sympathy and condolence be conveyed to his relatives, and to the Lord Bishop the Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer."

Action of Free Library Committee

Alderman T. Prendergast presided at the monthly meeting of the Carnegie Free Library and Museum Committee last evening. The other members present were Rev. Preacher Adderley, M.A.; Councillor T. Duggan, Dr. G. Fogerty, R.N.; Messrs. C. P. Close, B.A.; J. O'Connell, J. H. Enright, J. Flavin, J. Leddin, with Mr. J. P. M'Namara, director.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:—Proposed by Alderman Prendergast—"That we, the Committee of the Limerick Carnegie Free Library and Museum, have heard with the deepest sorrow of the death of Very Rev. Andrew Canon Murphy, P.P., V.G., who was an able and distinguished member of our committee for a great number of years, and one whose usefulness on such a committee could not be too highly appreciated, as his ability and talents were always at our disposal when called upon. That, while voicing our own sorrow, we cannot help also alluding to the loss which his death has occasioned to the Church, of which he was such a brilliant ornament, as well as to our country, which has to deplore the passing away of one of her most distinguished sons."

The meeting then adjourned.

Insurance Committee's Sympathy

At the meeting of the Limerick County Borough Insurance Committee held last night, Alderman D. M'Neice, who presided, moved "that the sympathy of this committee be tendered to the relatives of the late Canon Murphy, and that a copy of the resolution be sent to his relatives." The resolution, with which the secretary associated himself, was adopted in silence.

Expressions of Sympathy at City Petty Sessions

At the City Petty Sessions to-day, Mr. J. Quin said he only thought it fit that he should express the deep feelings of regret he felt at the late lamented, and he might say tragic, death of Canon Murphy. By his death the city had lost what he considered one of the most eminent clergymen that they had in the city for a long time. In his private and public capacity distinct from his priestly office, Canon Murphy was an ornament to their city, an ornament of which they all felt proud. He was a man who had shed lustre and done good not only for the city itself, but for the country at large in the cause of education and everything that was good. He (Mr. Quin) felt himself in a peculiar position, as he had been a friend of Canon Murphy, an intimate friend of his for a period of, he should say, a quarter of a century, and it was only a couple of weeks since he called to inquire after him and little did he think that he would have seen him alive for the last time. Canon Murphy had now gone to his rest and they all regretted his sad loss. He also wished to sympathise with the family of Mr. Joyce, M.P., on the death of his son who passed away in the prime of his life. He begged to propose that the clerk write to the relatives of the families of the deceased expressing the sympathy of the magistrates.

Mr. J. H. Roche seconded the resolution and fully bore out the remarks of Mr. Quin.

Mr. Daly said he would also wish to be associated with the resolution of condolence.

Mr. P. J. O'Sullivan, solicitor, on behalf of the legal profession, said he wished to associate himself with the remarks of Mr. Quin. As far as the feelings of his profession towards the late Canon Murphy were concerned, they were feelings of the greatest love, respect and pride, because they all knew that in Canon Murphy's eloquence, his straightforwardness and manliness, he was a worthy and brilliant representative of the city of Limerick in any sphere in which his duties brought him. He found it very hard to speak of Canon Murphy, as like Mr. Quin, he knew him for years, and had enjoyed his friendship and confidence, but now, as he had gone, he should say that a straighter, better and nobler friend no one ever had. He also wished to sympathise with Alderman Joyce, M.P., on his great loss by the death of his son.

Mr. Moran, solicitor, and Mr. Craig, D.I., also associated themselves with the remarks of the Magistrates.

Mr. Kelly said it should be a great source of satisfaction to the friends of Canon Murphy to hear all the nice observations made about him in expressions of sympathy at his rather unexpected death. He had not known the late Canon Murphy very long, but from what he heard and read, and knew about him, he should say he was a great loss to the city.

CITY PETTY SESSIONS

Licensing Prosecutions

THREE PUBLICANS CHARGED

INTERESTING CASES TO-DAY

Mr. P. J. Kelly, B.M., presided at the City Petty Sessions to-day. The other magistrates in attendance were—Messrs. S. D. Quin, J. H. Roche, E. J. Daly, J. J. Delaney, and Dr. M'Donnell.

The adjourned case of Patrick Treby, a ranger in the People's Park, against James Ryan, Edward-street, for an alleged infringement of the park by-laws by interfering with complainant in the discharge of his duties, was again heard.

Evidence having been given similar to that given at the last Court, the magistrates fined Ryan 1s and 2s costs.

Mr. Daly dissented from the decision.

Arthur Loggage, Cork, applied for a licence to carry on the business of general dealer in John-street, Limerick.

Mr. J. Dundon, solicitor, appeared for the applicant, and stated that the applicant was a respectable man, and carried on a general dealer's business in Cork and Macroom, and there was never any complaint against him.

Mr. Craig, D.I., said he objected to granting the licence on the grounds (1) that the applicant did not reside in the city and (2) that the existing general dealers in the city were sufficient for the requirements of the public.

The applicant stated he resided in Limerick since yesterday and had taken premises in John-street from Mr. Sayers.

Mr. Craig said the object of applying for the transfer was to avoid an objection to Mr. Sayers, who if he applied for the licence would be objected to.

The magistrates held that the applicant was not entitled to a licence, and the application was refused.

A respectable young woman named Hannah M'Knight was charged with the larceny of a pair of boots, the property of Patrick O'Neill, an employe of Messrs. Boyd & Co.

Evidence was given by O'Neill to the effect that he was employed at Messrs. Boyd's as a porter. On the 6th inst. he missed a pair of boots from his room. He reported to Mr. Holliday the occurrence, and to Sergeant Kelly. The defendant's husband was working at Boyd's and she used bring him his breakfast, and in that way she had access to the room of witness.

Evidence as to arrest and to the pawning of the boots having been given, the accused pleaded guilty, and she was let out under the First Offenders Act.

Joseph Buckner, Roxboro' Road, was charged with a breach of the Licensing Laws, on Sunday, 31st May. Mr P. J. O'Sullivan, solicitor, appeared for the defendant.

Constable Kelleghan gave evidence of going to the door of defendant's premises when he heard footsteps inside; witness knocked and there was a delay in opening the door; witness asked was there anyone inside who were not entitled to be there; defendant said not except his two brothers-in-law who were invited by him; there were some measures in the bar to which there was access by the back door; previous to Mr. Buckner getting the premises the magistrates refused to sign the certificate and ordered the wall to be built around the garden adjoining the premises; some of those sleepers were missing and there was free access into the premises by the back.

Joseph Buckner deposed that the two persons found on the premises were bona fide travellers; the boundary wall was now in the same condition as when he bought the premises; he did not remove any of the sleepers, and it was impossible to have access to the premises by the back.

The two men found on the premises deposed that they were invited guests, and had no drink.

The magistrates dismissed the case against the publican, and also against the two men found on the premises.

Mrs. Johannah O'Sullivan, William-street, who was charged with a breach of the Licensing Laws by supplying drink to Thomas Russell, on Sunday, 31st May, was fined 20s, and costs, and Russell was fined 2s. 6d.

Mary Lane, Wickham-street, was also charged with a breach of the Licensing Laws on Sunday, 7th June.

A man named Fitzgibbon was found on the premises.

The defence was that the man was an invited guest.

The majority of the magistrates were for convicting, and the publican was fined 10s, the man found on the premises being fined 2s 6d and costs.

Owen Ryan, William-street, was charged with being the occupier of premises in William-street and with having allowed three calves, the property of Mr. O'Grady, Feakle, County Clare, to be removed to Blackwater recently, contrary to the Cattle Diseases Regulations. It will be remembered that Mr. O'Grady was fined for being the owner of the calves and with permitting them to be removed from the city to Feakle.

Mr. Ryan was fined 5s and costs.

St John's Temperance Society

VOTE OF CONDOLENCE

At a committee meeting of the above Mr. M M'Namara presiding, the following resolution was proposed by Mr Pat Clery, and seconded by Mr M O'Reilly—"That we, the committee representing all the members of the above, wish to convey to Mrs Downey and family, and the brothers of the deceased, our sincere regret on the loss they have sustained in the death of Mr. William Downey, an old member of our Society for the past 16 years." The resolution was passed in silence.

Hibernian Excursion From Limerick

SEVEN HOURS AT SEASIDE

The Limerick City Divisions of the A.O.H. will hold their annual excursion on Sunday next, the venue being Cork, Youghal and Queenstown. A special fast train will leave Limerick at 9.15 a.m, returning at 8.30 p.m, thus providing for seven hours at the seaside. Tickets can be procured at any of the Hibernian Halls in the city for 2s 9d each; if purchased on Sunday morning an extra charge of 6d will be made. Granted fine weather, the outing should prove to be most enjoyable. An energetic committee has charge of the arrangements, and patrons can be assured that their comfort will be looked after.

Limerick Workers' Approved Society

ADJOURNMENT OF MEETING

At the usual weekly meeting of the Committee of Management of the above Society held last evening, Mr. Daniel Griffin, B.C., President, in the chair, Mr. Joseph Buckner proposed, and Mr. John Hayes seconded, the adjournment of the meeting as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Very Rev. Andrew Canon Murphy, P.P., V.G., St. Munchin's, and also as an expression of sympathy with Alderman Michael Joyce, M.P., on the death of his son.

The Chairman referred to the debt of gratitude which the people of Limerick owed the late Canon Murphy for the good work he had done by his patronage and his advice in the initial stages of the organisation of the Society. The diocese had lost a great cleric, the Irish Educational Movement an ardent and learned champion and the whole of Ireland had sustained a national loss by the premature death of a kind-hearted priest, an able and learned Churchman, and an educationalist of the highest order.

The Secretary was directed to convey the sympathy of the meeting to the Lord Bishop and to the relatives of the late Canon Murphy; to Alderman Joyce, M.P., and family, and also to the relatives of the late Mr. John Griffin.

Limerick Porkbutchers' Society

ADJOURNMENT OF MEETING

As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Canon Murphy, P.P., V.G., St. Munchins, the above society adjourned their usual weekly meeting of the 18th inst.
