was the Parliamentary representative of the division. The Irish Party, helped by the English democracy, had made splendid use of their time in the House of Commons, and this was proved by their success in the fight to a finish for Home Rule. In electing Mr. Lundon as their representative they honoured him, and, as the result proved, honoured themselves (cheers). He was sure that Mr. Lundon would again be their representative at the next election. He had done well in his representation of the constituency for the past five years, and they thanked him for it. Not only that, but they promised their support to Mr. Lundon in the future whenever he wanted that support (cheers). Mr. Michael Conway said that the Bill being on the Statute Book now, the Volunteers would show their ability to keep it there, as well as they did in bringing it there. A vote of thanks to the Very Rev. Chairman brought the meeting to a close.

Bruff Labour League Election of Officers

COTTAGES FOR LABOURERS

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS At a meeting of the Bruff Branch of the Irish Land and Labour Association, Mr. John issians, who Osborne, who presided, said they had come toolling stock, gether there that day to transact important ty of petrobusiness: to appoint officers for the next rongly fortitwelve months, and great responsibility will rest on the shoulders of those officers and the committee which they will select. A great number of members had representation forms orning from lodged since 1910, and other members were despatch repreparing to lodge forms for town and country the German houses. Every member in possession of a cottage at present should aid and assist his brother workers to secure houses, and when the inquiry comes off a solicitor must be employed to defend where opposition is given. e last night They sent a deputation from that branch to the from Sebe-Kilmallock District Council, and they were ruisers have received with open arms by the chairman, Mr. John Carroll, J.P., M.C.C., and he would never forget the poble action of the Kilmallock District Council on that day. TEERS ADDRESS BY CAPTAIN HOLLAND

On Sunday, under the auspices of the local Aeridheacht Committee, a Volunteer inspection was made in Dromcollogher by Captain Holland, of Limerick City. Companies from the following places turned out on parade-Feenagh, Broadford, Castlemahon, Ashford, Newcastle West, and Dromcollogher. The instructors put their men under various forms of drill and ritle instruction. At the close of the competition, Captain Holland addressed the Volunteers on the present European critical crisis. He advised them to keep in touch and harmony with those who were placed over them, and fit themselves in readiness should the emergency arise. Mr. Redmond had at last, he said, led them to the promised land. The achievement was a wonderful one, and one which would go down to history for generations. It was by land a nation once again. HANNAN, U.I.L.

THE LATE MR. T. LANE Resolution of Condolence

TRIBUTES TO HIS MEMORY

ADJOURNMENT OF THE BOARD

Mr R Frost, B C, Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians held to-day, and the other members present were Indy Emily, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs.

M'Donnell, Miss M'Donnell, Messrs J. O'G. Delmege, D L; D O'Brien, M Sheehan, P. late Mr. Thomas Lane, and we beg to tender to his bereaved family our very deepest sympathy and regret, and that we now adjourn as a slight token of respect to his memory. That copies be sent to his son, Patrick Lane, R.O.; Messrs. P. Lane and J. Lane, and the other esteemed members of his family." In moving that resolution, continued Mr. Humphreys, I think you all feel with me here today the most sincere regret on the death of Mr. Lane, our friend and colleague. He was a very popular and a very good man. The big concourse of people who followed his remains to honour (laughter). They would look for 6d their last resting place furnished abundant from the ratepayers and think it no shame. proof of this fact. Mr. Lane had been for about forty years a member of that Board and he thought the best tribute of respect they could pay his memory was to adjourn without transacting any business.

himself with the resolution. Mr. Lane had been long and honourably associated with the Board, and he took a deep interest in its business. He (Mr. Lynch) had always known Mr. Lane to be one of the most upright, honourable and straightforward members of the Board. Lady Emly said she would wish also to associate herself with the resolution. Mr. Lane

The motion was seconded unanimously.

Mr. J. P. Lynch said he wished to associate was a true friend of hers. He was always kind and considerate to her during all the time she was a member of the Board, and she desired most sincerely to say how deeply she regretted his death. Mr. D. O'Brien also associated himself with the resolution.

The Clerk said it would ill become him if he did not express how deeply he condoled with Mr. Lane's family. Mr. Lane was a very old friend of his. He worked with him for many years, and he (Clerk) never met a more upright, honourable, or conscientious men. He fully concurred with what Lady Emly had said, and if he could say more he would. Mr. M'Coy, solicitor, on behalf of the solicitors, said he personally "also desired to associate himself with the resolution.

The Chairman, in declaring the resolution passed, said Mr. Lane was a very old favourite, and he was regretted by everybody as well as the members of the Board. The remarkable tribute, the public attendance at his funeral last Sunday, proved this. The Board then adjourned.

Mr. Lillis expressed his appreciation of the action of the Board on behalf of this man. He (Mr. Lillis) exerted himself successfully in ting classified as paying patients when they thought it meant better treatment. If they did not, and especially when they could not afford to pay, the treatment would be the same, paying or not paying. Mr. O'Brien-I have heard things that would

- The subject dropped. After a protracted discussion and a sharp in: terchange between two respectable members of the Board-the Board, on a division, allowed outdoor relief to a striken tradesman.

The Chairman's and other members, only objection lay in the fact, that the applicant's wife had aniple means-and all his earnings toc-invested in bank shares, as in the Post Office Savings Bank. They (the Board) applied to his wife to produce certificates to the contrary, but she declined, telling the Chairman to go ask himself. After the division of 12 votes to 9,

The Chairman said he would never lay himself open to a surcharge for a woman and her husband possessed of ample means. He would never sign that order. Some further interchanges followed, where:

upon Mr. Roughan assumed responsibility for the bona fides of the application. Chairman-Very well, the Guardians and I are out of it with the auditor.

Mr. O'Brien-I may tell you I object to grant relief in such a circumstance. He knew of a person having £200 in bank looking for outdoor relief. It was no disgrace now to get outdoor relief. It was, on the contrary, an
