CORK POLICE SERGEANT'S DEATH.

An inquest was held on Thursday at Donoughmore by Mr. Coroner J. J. Horgan, solr, into the circumstances touching the death of Sergeant Patrick O'Brien, R.I.C., a native of Glin, Co. Limerick, who was found dead in his room at the police barracks on Tuesday, 15th inst.

Sergeant Denny and Head-Constable Wood represented the police, and a jury, of which Mr. T. M. Casey was foreman, having been sworn.

Constable Henihan, Donoughmore, stated that about 9 o'clock on the day in question from information he received he went to deceased's room, where he found him lying dead on the floor with a gun that had recently been discharged.

Dr. Timothy Crowley, Donoughmore, stated that he had made an examination of the body, and found the left eye shattered. At the top of the head there was a hole where the bullet had come out.

A Juror—Could it be possible, doctor, that the occurrence was accidental?

Dr. Crowley—It is possible.

Head-Constable Wood stated that he knew deceased and as far as witness was aware deceased was in no trouble.

The Coroner said that the circumstances of the case were peculiarly sad. Deceased was a very respectable officer. He, on behalf of the jury, expressed regret at the occurrence.

The jury found in accordance with the evidence.

SHOP HOLIDAYS.

Regulations for the Christmas Season.

The Home Office has issued a circular for the guidance of shopkeepers in regard to the closing of shops on certain days during the Christmas and New Year holidays.

The circular states that the shopkeeper will not be required to give the assistants a half-holiday in the week preceding Christmas week if he gives them a whole-holiday on Christmas Day and a half-holiday or a whole holiday on Boxing Day. He should, if Saturday is not the ordinary day for the assistants' half-holiday, put up a notice in his shop in the official form stating that creation ground, Kossbrien Road. For this season we wish to record our gratitude to Major McLennan for generously the Club to continue to play on ground. We are hoping that during the term it may be possible to form a club, as we have been most generously use of a tennis ground for the Schoolmas Roche, of Corbally. We tender grateful thanks to Mr Roche, and trust Easter we may be able to avail ourselves of his kind offer.

ing Class has done good work under the supervision of Mr. Most of the needlework undertaken was destined either for the soldiers at the front or for the use of the wounded in the hospital at 19 Mountjoy Square, Dublin, and staffed by the Dublin University Aid Detachment. In all, the School made 6 pairs of socks, 6 cholera belts, 2 muffers, 18 drawsheets, 18 hot water bottles, 2 pillows, 18 pillow cases, and 4 quilts.
