FUNERAL OF MISS E. E. GORE.

The remains of the late Miss Evelyn Esther Gore, youngest daughter of Lieut. Col and Mrs Ripton Gore, of Thounfields, Lisnagry, were laid to rest in Castleconnell Churchyard, on Friday last, the service being conducted by Rev Chancellor Gillespie. We very sincerely sympathise with the parents in this bereavement, which has come so soon after recent sad deaths in the family.

In evidence of the affection felt by all classes for the deceased, the coffin was laden with lovely wreaths from the following:—"From Father and Mother, in loving memory"; "From May, with loving memory of my darling sister"; "From Ada and Esme, in loving memory of our darling sister"; "Mrs Gore, Exleigh, in loving memory"; "Mr and Mrs Henry, Joan and Diana, loving recollections"; "Dr and Mrs Blood, in affectionate remembrance"; "Phyllis Mallins, in loving memory"; "Mrs Hilda Goodbody, in deepest sympathy"; "Miss Rich, in loving memory"; "Col and Mrs Henn and Marjory, in deepest sympathy"; "Mr and Hon Mrs Vansittart, Mrs Robertson, much sympathy"; "Mrs Verschoyle, with deepest sympathy"; "Mr P Ryan and family"; "Colonel and Mrs Rutledge"; "Mr and Mrs Gilly, etc.

THOMOND HALL RECITALS.

Those who heard Mr Alexander Watson, the Renowned Elocutionist and Monologue Entertainer, on the occasion of his first visit to Limerick two years ago, will be glad of the opportunity offered to hear him again on next Wednesday evening, at the Royal George Hotel, in a Dramatic Recital impersonating scenes from "Nicholas Nickleby," one of Dickens' famous novels, and also in miscellaneous sketches by Christina Rossetti, J M Barrie, Rudyard Kipling, and Mark Twain. The Press criticisms of Mr Watson's recitals are so flattering that they may be summed up in the opinion of the "Morning Post," as being "beyond all praise." He made such an impression when he was here last that it will not be surprising if a still larger number will be anxious not to miss his recital this time. In the elocutionary art he is famed for his beautiful and highly impressive interpretations, and while in Melbourne, during his recent second Australian tour, no building could be found large enough to adequately accommodate all those who
