

ing from the Russians. Her losses been enormous. Statistics relating to period between the 4th and 23rd June that 194,041 men, 4,031 officers, 219 guns, 644 machine guns, and 196 -throwers were captured by the Czar's s, while yesterday's Petrograd come que brings the number of captures in ew offensive up to the immense total 5,000 men of all ranks. An effort, it is is now being made to replace this is shortage by drawing reinforcements the Western front, from Belgian ions, and from new formations at an headquarters. But there is every ation that the Russian plans have, characteristic strategy, been so well is to continue to successfully grapple German aggression, whatever its gth or character may be. Finally, on talian front, despite the difficult nature e ground, and the the stubborn attacks e Austrians, the advance of our Ally is actory and continuous. Thus, from a al review of the situation in the us theatres of war it is evident that Allied forces are co-operating the one the other in very effective fashion, and undoubted satisfactory and encourag- esults. The whole prospect, then, is a t one for us. There is an all-round eliness" apparent, which Germany doe s elish, and we may take it that there is of it to follow.

(Hear, hear). Before he withdrew he wished to say, on behalf of the Committee and of the religious community to which he belonged, and the 1,500 children whom the citizens had committed to their charge, that he thanked the people with all his heart for the encouragement and support which they had given (applause). He had almost forgotten to mention that the committee were providing another entertainment in the near future. They had started a dainty Fairy Lawnfete, and the ywere enlisting all the fairest of the Limerick fairies to take part in the fete. He might mention that Mr Dick Hartigan was to be the chief organiser (hear, hear). In conclusion, he had only to repeat that he was extremely grateful to the audience for their attendance (applause).

DEATH OF MR JOHN DALY.

The death occurred yesterday at his residence, Barrington Street, of Mr John Daly, in his 71st year, and after an illness protracted for the past few years. Mr Daly was rather prominently identified with the Fenian Movement. He passed at intervals several years of a somewhat eventful life in the United States and on his return in 1884 was arrested on a charge of taking part in the dynamite conspiracy, the police evidence being that bombs were found in his possession when taken into custody. This the deceased always indignantly denied. He was sentenced to penal servitude for life at the Warwick Assizes which followed his arrest, the late John F Egan, subsequently Dublin sword bearer being also sentenced to a term of penal servitude. Neither prisoner suffered the full period, Mr Daly being discharged in 1896, from which date he entered actively into local affairs. He formed a labour party in the city, and helped to strengthen its representation in the Corporation. On the passing of the Local Government (Ireland) Act he became Mayor of the city for 1899 and the two succeeding years. He purchased the interest of the bakery in Sarsfield street, and from that on to his illness lived a quiet life, although to the last not changing or modifying his political views. His illness was a trying one, but he was attended by devoted relatives, in whose welfare the deceased took the kindest and most affectionate concern. Mr Daly was unmarried. The funeral, it is announced, takes place to-morrow from his late residence, at 1 p.m.

IRISH PROBLEM.

Nationalists and the Negotiations.

It is understood says the "Irish Times" that the Nationalist Party have decided not to hold another convention in connection with the proposals for an Irish settlement, and their last word will be spoken by the Directory of the United Irish League next week.

GREAT MUNSTER FAIR.

The Great Munster Cattle and Sheep Fair yesterday was an average one. Buyers were in attendance from all the principal markets, but business was slow owing to the fall experienced in prices as compared with quotations holding at the May fair. Beef was down ten to fifteen
