submarines sank a food ship going to Ireland, and if the officers of the German submarine boarded a mud barge of the Dublin Corporation almost beside Kish lighthouse.

Dr MacNamara said he had no information that German submarines had recently been in Dublin Bay, and he had no reason to believe they had been. The vessel was, however, sunk from Belfast to Dublin. The answer in the last part of the question was in the negative.

Mr Byrne—Has the hon. gentlemen made any inquiry from the authorities in Dublin as to whether the German submarine commander boarded the barge?

Dr MacNamara—We have no information of that, and we have no reason to believe any submarines have been in Dublin Bay. That being so the commander of one could not have gone on to the mud barge in Dublin Bay. But if the hon. gentleman wants me to make a further local inquiry in respect of the rumour which he is now putting to me, it certainly shall be made.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Daniel Flynn, 55, a large farmer living at Knockaouna, Bruree, was killed on the railway line this morning by 11.30 train from Limerick.
He was crossing the permanent way from one farm to another, when he was caught by the engine, and instantaneously killed. At the point where the accident occurred there is a sharp curve. The deceased, who was a most respectable man, leaves a widow and young family to mourn his loss.

FIRE IN A WOOD.

Our Glin correspondent writes:—Information was conveyed to the Glin police at 2 a.m. on Tuesday by a person returning home from Ballinagoul to Killeany that the eastern end of Tullyglass wood, in Glin demesne, was on fire. Constables Creedon and Murray hurried to the place, three-quarters of a mile away, and found the recently planted underwood ablaze in several places. Owing to the great drought the constables had a hard fight in preventing the spread of the fire, but after some hours' work they succeeded in doing so. I am informed the Knight of Glin, the ance fund, which am
