way out, and Germany is going to be knocked out (Applause). If I were the German I should like p my eye just now at only on the Western front, but on what may be called the back door. As you know, we signed an armistice with Turkey last night. We might have signed it before, but we held the Turks on a string during the last two weeks. They have been making overtures more or less official, but at the same time we have been going towards Aleppo. We have now got Turkey out of the war and that means we are going to get a fleet of warships up the Dardanelles.

I am told that it has actually started. At any rate, we have been collecting ships at the mouth of the Dardanelles some time past. They were ready to start, and if they have not done so they will very soon. There is nothing to prevent that fleet getting through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea, and up the Danube and to the back door. Germany must, therefore, be looking with apprehension at what is going to take place. Not only have they to meet in or as a pressure on the Western front, but they have the appalling prospect that, if they are to defend their territory, they have got to divide the remaining remnants of their forces between the Western front and the back door, at which we shall be knocking as the result of getting through the Dardanelles. (Applause.)

Death-Knell of German Empire

Paris, Friday. The "Matin" says:—The collapse of Turkey will ring the death-knell of the German Empire. The "Petit Parisien," which notices in passing the collapse of the dream of German dominion in the Orient, concludes as follows: "It now remains to create from Adrianople to the Persian Gulf, and from Mount Ararat to the Suez Canal, a new world, wholly different from the old. To crush the sterile rule of tyranny and to recall the peoples to a new life is the glorious task of diplomacy.—Reuter.

FUNERAL OF MRS COGHLAN.

The remains of the late Mrs C Coghlan, Postmistress, Castleconnell, whose death took place on Tuesday, were interred in the family burial place, Castleconnell, on Thursday. The funeral was large and representative, and testified to the esteem and regard in which the deceased was held, and the sympathy felt for her family in their bereavement.

The chief mourners were—Cordelia Coghlan (husband), Kitty and Sheila (daughters), Jack (son), Mrs Coghlan, Mrs Coghlan, Limerick, and Mrs Coghlan, Pallaskenry (sisters-in-law); Mr James Coghlan, Limerick; Mr Tom Coghlan, Pallaskenry (brothers-in-law); Mr John Joyce, Limerick; Mr Tom Meade and Mr Pat Meade, Mr William and Mr James Hanly, Mr John O'Halloran, Arkleston, Mr Michael Corbett, Berrigole, Mr Tom Frost (usque).

The general public included—Capt Vansittart, Sir Stephen Quinn, B.C.; Rev L G Drvis, Rector; Alderman P McDonagh, A Mackey, M.C.C.; D O'Brien, J P, D.C.; John McMahon, D.C.; T Hogan, M.C.C. (rallies); Michael Emlight, Stephen Moore, N.T., Pallaskenry; Stephen Ealey, Killonchar, Michael McKnight, Pat O'Halloran, James McDonagh, Pat Griffin, Denis O'Meara, Nenagh; P McOrthy, Mat Hayes, Coole.

The Rev Michael Sprou, C.C., assisted by the Rev Michael O'Shilly, C.C., officiated at the graveside.

Master of the Rolls declaring that the Joint Committee of the Chamber District Lunatic Asylum was a distinct and separate public body within the meaning of the section of the Local Government Act, and as such was liable to pay the Local Government Board, from time to time, the amounts charged for the services of the Board's auditors in auditing the accounts of the Joint Committee, and directing that the Committee should pay the Board the sum of £40, the amount ascertained and claimed to be due for the year ending March 31st, 1918, in respect of the auditor's services.

The Court, without calling on counsel for the respondent, dismissed the appeal with costs, affirming the decision of the Master of the Rolls.

The Lord Chancellor, giving judgment, said he adopted the conclusions arrived at by the Master of the Rolls in accordance with the provisions of Section 9 of the Local Government Act of 1908, the effect of which was that once the County Council had appointed a committee the County Council became "functus officio." The erection of a committee was not a dilatory act by the Council. The Act set it up as a separate body.

Lord Justice R. and Lord Justice O'Connor concurred.

ENNISTYMON HOTEL CASE.

Yesterday, in the Nisi Prius (No. 1) Court, the new case of Kearney v McCormack was heard before Mr Justice Moore. The case was brought by Mrs Catherine Kearney, of 113 Coonagh street, Phiborough, Dublin, to recover possession of a hotel and licensed premises in Church street, Ennistymon, Co. Clare, from Miss Catherine McCormack, who held as tenant from year to year at a rent of £30 per annum, payable in advance, and also damages for injury to the premises and furniture, the latter claim being now struck out.

The plaintiff stated that the defendant, when served with notice to quit, said she would require a repudiation, and in reply she told her that, so far from getting compensation, she was liable to her for a repudiation for dilapidation of the premises and damage of furniture. The plaintiff added that she wanted the premises for herself, as she had received notice to quit the premises she occupied.

Mr Justice Moore gave judgment for the plaintiff for possession, with costs.

DEATH OF MR J GAVIN.

We regret to record the death of Mr James Gavin which occurred at his residence, 10 Downick Street, this morning, following an acute attack of influenza. The deceased was a bright intelligent young fellow and greatly esteemed by his employers, Messrs O'Mara, Ltd, and the public generally. In this their hour of sorrow the sympathy of the citizens will be extended to his mother and family in their bereavement. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-morrow from St Michael's Parochial Church.
